SPHINX FARLEY AWAITS DECISION ON THIRD TERM

Potential Rival for 1940 Nomination.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—Return of Postmaster General James A. Farley from his swing round the country has produced a dramatic situation in the contest taking shape over the Democratic nomination for President next year.

James A. Farley.

As chairman of the Democratic national committee, Mr. Farley has made a political survey from coast to coast. He has talked with scores of Democratic state leaders, who were able to report to him the political sentiment in their respective communities.

The Democratic national chairman now knows, or thinks he knows, the extent of the party sentiment favoring the renomination of Mr. Roosevelt for a third term and the extent of the party sentiment opposed to such renomination. Mr. Farley also knows, or thinks he knows, about how much support by party leaders he can count on if he should run.

Dramatic Situation in Making.

So when Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Farley come to sit down and discuss the 1940 nomination there will be a dramatic situation, for each will be a topnotch leader of the party with vast political influence at his command, and each will be a potential candidate for the nomination.

Some who are on terms of intimacy with the postmaster general have given currency to the report that he will tell the President that the party by a large majority favors his renomination despite the tradition against a third term and that he will be renominated unless he chooses not to run. Other intimates, claiming knowledge that Mr. Farley subscribes to the anti-third term tradition, are confident he will part company with the President if the latter should persist in defying precedent and will so inform Mr. Roosevelt.

Meanwhile the postmaster general is saying only this:

"It would be futile to discuss the 1940 nomination until the President says whether he will be a candidate."

Appointees to Be Delegates.

Anti-Roosevelt Democrats believe that Mr. Farley with the party influence he commands could put a spoke in the wheels of any ambition the President may entertain to succeed himself. Whereat the President's partisans chuckle, pointing out that the majority of the convention will be composed of Roosevelt appointees to federal jobs whose best chance of continuance on the pay roll will inhere in the return of their patron. Besides, say the New Dealers, Mr. Roosevelt would sweep the presidential primaries.

The steadily growing belief among Democratic politicians is that Mr. Roosevelt aspires to a third term and that the only consideration that might deter him would be the prospect of defeat in the election. It is surmised, however, that the President will consider himself the only Democrat who could win. If the President elects to run and Mr Farley stays with him there is little doubt that he will be renominated.

Seek His Running Mate.

So sure are the New Dealers that the President will be renominated that they are already canvassing the selection of his running mate. Their preference appears to be for Attorney General Frank Murphy, who nails from Michigan, a normally Republican state, which it would be important for the Democrats to carry next year and which it might be impossible for any Democrat but a Michigander to carry if Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of that state should be the Republican nominee.

Renomination of Roosevelt even with Farley's aid would split the party. Conservative Democrats might name their own ticket which virtually would assure Republican victory.

If Mr. Roosevelt decides not to run there will be a free for all fight for the nomination.

RESCUERS FIND VICTIM UNHURT FROM CAVE-IN

Drive Shaft 65 Feet to Release Him.

Shenandoah, Pa., May 29 [Monday].—Robert Galligan, bootleg coal miner, was rescued at 1 a. m. today from his underground trap 65 feet below the surface where he had been entombed since 10 o'clock Friday morning by a rock slide. He was unhurt, although he showed physical effects of his ordeal.

"How about a cigaret?" he asked as he was brought to the surface to the cheers of hundreds of waiting spectators.

Galligan smiled and waved to the crowd, which included his aged father, Patrick Galligan, 80 years old, and his wife. Galligan was quickly bundled up, placed in an automobile, and driven to the Locust Mountain State hospital near by. Physicians there said his condition was fair and that he would be kept under observation.

Two Co-Workers Escape.

The rescue of Galligan was a reward of arduous and perilous work by Shenandoah miners who worked incessantly to reach him from the first moment they learned of his plight. Galligan was trapped while working in an old mine with two other men, but they escaped. He is 38 years old.

Crowds of men rushed to the rescue. They took with them every type of mining tool. A steam shovel also was transported to the scene. Experienced miners directed the rescue work. Great care had to be exercised, for too great a pressure on the mine top might cause a further slide and kill the entombed man.

As a starter, the steam shovel was employed to dig out the first 15 feet of slate, dirt, and debris. Thereafter only picks and shovels could be used. Working in relays, men dug a shaft toward Galligan. This was to be not more than four feet square, just large enough for one man to work.

Digs One Foot an Hour.

Each bucketful of dirt and slate dug out had to be hoisted to the surface. To prevent a cave-in it also was necessary to bolster the sides of the emergency shaft with timber all the time the shaft was being deepened. About one foot was dug an hour.

As the diggers neared their goal yesterday they sunk a one inch pipe down toward Galligan. This was at about the 60 foot level, only five feet from Galligan. The pipe reached Galligan's voice soon was heard.

"Fellows, what time is it?" he asked. He was told it was Sunday afternoon. "Well, hurry up, then," he replied. "I'm getting hungry and I'd like to be home for dinner."

Stimulants were poured to Galligan. During the day he assured the rescuers he was all right, that he had found refuge under the roof of his bootleg mine when the slide occurred.

Forced to Work Slowly.

The rescuers continued with their work requiring longer time to finish the last five feet of the deep shaft than were required to dig any previous twelve feet. At midnight it became apparent the rescue would be effected in less than two hours. One hour later the diggers broke through and quickly hoisted Galligan to the top.

The mine in which Galligan was trapped was one of hundreds of bootleg workings scattered in the eastern Pennsylvania coal fields, and operated by unemployed miners.

Reliefer Pawns New Shoes for Liquor; Gets 4 Months

Decatur, Ill., May 28.—[Special.]—George Francisco drew a new pair of shoes at the relief agency yesterday and carried them out wrapped up. Then he decided that he could get along another day with his old ones and pawned the new ones for 50 cents, with which he bought a bottle of liquor. A few hours later he was arrested for drunkenness. Taken before Justice E. A. Schroeder today he was given a four month term at the state farm at Vandalia for vagrancy.

Canoe Upsets on Hudson; West Point Cadet Drowns

West Point, N. Y., May 28.—(AP)—Cadet Sidney F. Dunn, 20 years old, a second class man in the United States Military academy and son of Maj. and Mrs. Sidney F. Dunn of Fort Lewis, Wash., drowned today in the Hudson river. A canoe in which he was riding with another cadet was caught in a squall and capsized.

5 Saved as Speedboat Upsets in Lake

POSING AGAIN—FACING ALL WAYS

(Pictures on Page 3.)

From his skyscraper apartment a man scanned Lake Michigan with field glasses last evening. He saw a speed boat skimming over the water from the south. Suddenly a squall struck the boat half a mile off North avenue, lifted its nose high in the air, and then sank it.

Policeman Mubi.

The watcher, who did not give his name, telephoned the police. And because he did, three nurses and two men were saved from drowning.

Sergt. Herman Dorf led the first squad to the beach. The policemen ran out to the end of the pier, but they saw only the great waves that the wind had lashed up. They were about to report a false alarm when they saw a girl's arm raised in an appeal for help.

Call for Volunteers.

Meanwhile Policeman Frank Mubi had arrived with another squad. Sergt. Dorf told them what he had seen. Mubi called for volunteers to go to the rescue with him in the Sea Scout, a six oared boat that was on the beach.

James B. Waller, former alderman of the 43d ward, had just arrived with his wife. He volunteered. Another civilian who would not tell his name offered to go. Lieut. Jens P. Hansen and Policemen Edward Graf and Lou Gordon, professional football player, joined them.

As the rowboat headed out a yacht passed within fifty feet of the spot where the girl had been seen waving. The police left on shore fired into the air in a vain attempt to attract the yacht party's attention to the plight of the speed boat's passengers.

Bucking the great waves the volunteers drew near to the girls, who were clinging to the nonsinkable seats from the speed boat. One girl screamed, "I can't hold on any longer."

Pull First Victim Aboard.

Shouting encouragement the rescuers reached her and pulled her aboard before she was exhausted. She is Miss Gerda Varming, 22 years old, of Clarendon Hills. Soon afterward they reached Dorothy Ackerman, 20, of 5631 Kenwood avenue, who was losing her grip on her float.

A coast guard power boat arrived. Its crew found the three other members of the party trying to gain a hold on some rocks. They are Miss Eleanor Ludwig, 21, of 54 South Ashland avenue, La Grange; Theodore Hester, 27, of 1480 Grace street, owner of the boat, and his brother, Thomas, 26, a navy sailor, who were rescued.

Miss Varming and Miss Ackerman are student nurses at St. Luke's hospital and Miss Ludwig is a graduate nurse. All three girls had torn off their slacks they were wearing over their bathing suits in their effort to save themselves.

The volunteers now were almost exhausted themselves and soaked by the waves breaking over their boat. The coast guard crew prepared to tow them in but had no rope.

A Human Tow Line.

Policeman Graf volunteerd to make himself a human tow line. He seized the stern of the coast guard boat and his brother officers in the rowboat held him by the legs as they were hauled to Navy pier.

There ambulances were waiting. Miss Varming was taken to the Passavant hospital and the others to the Henrotin hospital. All were suffering from exhaustion and exposure as a result of their forty-five minute battle with the waves.

One Drowns; Two Missing.

New York, May 28.—(AP)—A gay Sunday fishing party suddenly turned into a scramble for life in the treacherous currents of East river today when the 32 foot cabin cruiser Bilot capsized. The known loss is one dead. Two persons are missing.

Overturned by the heavy wash of a passing ship, the craft pitched 24 members of the party and its crew of four into the water off 77th street, north of Welfare Island.

A patrolman swam from shore and brought one victim to safety. Quick action by a lifeboat crew from the excursion steamer Yale, standing nearby in the river channel, was credited with preventing a greater death toll.

SLOT MACHINES WHIR MERRILY OUTSIDE OF CITY

Operators in County Reap Harvest.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Some days a slot machine operator can't make a dollar. But there were no complaints yesterday or Saturday in the Cook county territory outside Chicago. Slot machines have been banned. But the lemons, cherries, bells, oranges, and plums were whirring merrily.

Attorney General Cassidy.

Attorney General John E. Cassidy is depending on some trustworthy aids to inform him whether the four day holiday period which includes Memorial day is to be a gold strike or a dud for the Cook county slot machine boys. Cassidy declared war on the boys last January, scolded them in February, warned them in March, and since then has been busy in Springfield.

The attorney general's survey was conducted secretly. If his investigators had started from the city in a southerly direction Saturday night they could have aided Lieut. Harry Andel of the county highway police in his seizure of ten machines in Calumet Park.

They're Where You Find 'Em.

If they had gone north, as a reporter did, they could have seen twenty-one machines in seven places on Dempster road from McCormick road to Waukegan road. And on Waukegan road from Dempster road to Lake avenue they might have seen fifteen machines in six places—as a reporter did.

Along Church street and Golf road in Niles Center they might have seen eight machines in three places, as a reporter did, and four machines in one place in Lincolnwood and several more in the territory called No Man's Land.

Cruising along River road, in the northwest section, the investigators might have counted twenty-seven slot machines in numerous roadhouses. And in the neighborhood of Melrose Park they'd have found eight or nine.

Or, if they had traveled with another reporter they could have seen twenty-three slot machines in operation in ten taverns and roadhouses on Route 4 A, Archer avenue, from Justice Park to Lemont road.

Cassidy Is Surprised.

"I am surprised," said Cassidy on Friday, "at complaints that slot machines again are being tolerated in Cook county. I intend to find out for myself. But what about State's Attorney Courtney and Sheriff O'Brien? Do they admit they are unable to enforce the law?"

State's Attorney Courtney's most recent pronouncement was that the sheriff is responsible for slot machine conditions in the county. Sheriff O'Brien was said to be out of the city yesterday and Chief Lester Laird of the county highway police was his deputy in charge of such matters as eliminating slot machines.

Chief Laird was not available for an interview. In his behalf it was said he and his men seize slot machines wherever they find them and arrest whoever is operating them. County highway police point to hundreds of machines confiscated this year.

Unwilling to Admit Failure.

It is understood the Cook county officials would not admit to Cassidy that they are unable to enforce the law. Cassidy said he was willing, nevertheless, to finish what he had started in Cook county and he wanted the cooperation of the local officials.

"Gov. Horner is back of me to the limit," he said in answer to a question regarding possible assistance from state police.

JAYWALKERS LIABLE TO JAIL TERMS UNDER BUENOS AIRES ORDER

BUENOS AIRES, May 28.—(AP)—Pedestrians in Buenos Aires are struggling with an innovation in municipal trafic control—"keep to the right" sidewalks.

The mayor has signed a law providing fines or brief jail terms for pedestrians who fail to keep to the right on the sidewalks, who "jaywalk," or who walk in the streets. He approved the law, despite an adverse recommendation of his board of trafic advisers, in an effort to reduce automobile-pedestrian accidents and to speed the movement of pedestrians in central portions of the city.

Irish Farmer Knows His Law and Gets a Rebate

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland, May 28.—(AP)—A farmer fined £5 [about $23.40] for setting fire to bushes to clear land for grazing claimed nearly eight shillings change [about $1.80]—and got it. It wasn't that there was a discount for payment in cash but because fines for offenses committed under laws passed before the act of union of Britain and Ireland in 1800 must be paid according to the value of the old Irish pound—18 shillings, five and one-half pence, instead of the present 20 shillings.

Largest lead in city and suburban daily circulation in history!

During the six-month period ended March 31, 1939, Tribune city and suburban net paid daily circulation averaged 727,954. This was 348,281 greater—92% greater—than the city and suburban net paid circulation of any other Chicago daily newspaper, and the greatest volume and percentage of lead for any six-month period on record.

As Tribune circulation increases, Tribune advertisers get greater results at decreasing cost.

Chicago Pilots Save Mother in Timberland

BY ROBERT R. McCORMICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Pictures on Page 2.)

BAIE COMEAU, Que., May 28.—Howard West and Ralph Heimer, Chicago airplane pilots, today added one more deed of heroism to the history of this northern country that supplies pulp wood which is made into paper for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Arrow Locates Landing Point of Mercy Flyers.

Last year they rescued two aviators who had crashed and flew them 200 miles through fog and rain to a hospital and health. Today they saved a mother and infant.

Worshipers in Baie Comeau's church may have thought that the flying boat Tribune was dragging her anchor in the gale when the pilots quietly rose and left the service. The airmen had just been told that Mme. Raoul Grenier was dying in childbirth in the forest a few miles away and could be saved only by an immediate operation.

Lands Between Ice Cakes.

The water was too rough for a safe take off, but Pilot West got his ship into the air on the third attempt. A few minutes later he landed between ice cakes in a short narrow stretch of the nearby River Outardes.

The expectant mother was placed on board. The shortness of the take-off forbade another passenger so Co-Pilot Heimer, with the versatility of an experienced aviator, stood by ready for any emergency.

Pilot West turned on the full power of his engines and spectators gasped as the hull of the flying boat crashed through the tops of the trees which lined the stream. A safe landing was made on the rough surface of Comeau bay. The woman was taken to the local hospital, where Dr. E. E. Binet performed a Cæsarian operation.

Father Hears Good News.

Raoul Grenier, who had run through the timber from his cabin to the hospital arrived just in time to hear the good news.

"My boy will be baptized Howard Ralph Grenier, after the men who saved him and my wife," he said as soon as he could speak.

He has painted out the name Tribune on the flying boat and is busily replacing it with Gigogne [stork].

Baie Comeau is a recently established town in one area of THE TRIBUNE'S timberlands. It is on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and is about 225 miles northeast of Quebec.

BELIEVE AMERICAN IS FAR OVER SEA IN FLIGHT TO EUROPE

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Reported only once since he took off from Old Orchard Beach, Me., at 3:47 o'clock this morning on a surprise flight to Europe, Thomas H. Smith of Los Angeles, Cal., was believed to be far out over the Atlantic late tonight. He is flying a 670 pound Aeronca plane powered with a 65 horse power engine.

Thomas H. Smith.

The only report on Smith came from St. John, N. B., tonight. Officials of the municipal airport said that a tiny plane circled the field at 6 o'clock this morning and headed out to sea in a dense fog and rain.

Smith carried 160 gallons of gasoline and expected to reach England or Ireland in from thirty-two to forty hours. His plane cruises at 100 miles an hour. Smith, 27 years old, with nine years of flying experience, carried no radio. Before the takeoff he said he was making the flight to show the practicability of long distance flying in small planes. He had no approval for the flight from the Civil Aeronautics authority in Washington and did not even tell his parents about his plans.

Charges Mate Spanked Her to Prove He Was the Boss

Yonkers, N. Y., May 28.—[Special.]—David Halinan, 29 years old, of Yonkers, was arrested today on a charge of assault, made by his wife, Marion. She said he spanked her to prove he was boss in their home.

cause of Horner's absence from the state. Stelle placed the 350 state police at Cassidy's disposal and they were told to smash the slot machine racket in each of the 102 counties.

For a few days the state police enjoyed their newly acquired authority to arrest slot machine owners or operators. Then the sheriffs of many counties protested the encroachment by the state troopers.

Sheriffs Make Protests Heard.

The sheriffs said they needed no help. A sheriff is a strong political power in his own county. Collectively 102 sheriffs made their protest heard.

There was no formal announcement, but the state police resumed their task of handling traffic on state highways and quit being slot machine detectives. It was explained that they would do slot machine sleuthing only when requested by sheriffs. It was learned at the time that no such request was issued from Cook county.

T. P. Sullivan, chief of the state bureau of criminal investigation, worked with Cassidy and reported that slot machines had free sway in many counties throughout the state —including Cook county. The combined forces of the state then were directed against the machines.

Survey Shows Results.

Rock Island—Slot machines which existed in large numbers in Rock Island county at the time of the attorney general's order disappeared overnight.

Galesburg—With the exception of one city, slot machines appear to be a thing of the past. Some are in operation in Kewanee, Henry county.

Effingham—Sheriff Thomas McDevitt says Effingham county is clear of slot machines. They disappeared immediately after Cassidy began his drive.

Rockford—Pinball, jackpot, and digger machines were removed from Winnebago county outside Rockford in March after fourteen were seized by sheriff on basis of Cassidy's ruling.

Peoria—In Peoria county slot machines are reported to be in operation in one or two places, but in the city proper pinball games have replaced them.

Cairo—Alexander and Pulaski counties have been free of slot machines since November, 1937, when Chairman A. S. Smith of the state liquor commission conducted a hearing here, giving tavern owners three hours in which to remove the machines or lose their licenses.

Bloomington—Slot machines have been a minor issue in this territory for two years. Pinball games have created furor. Cassidy has declared them illegal. Mayor Mark Hayes scoffed at opinion and Cassidy sent in state police. Pinballs went out.

East St. Louis—Slot machines, as obnoxious as mosquitoes a year ago in this part of southern Illinois, today are as scarce as smallpox. Syndicates that two years ago had an estimated annual take of more than $1,000,000 from slot machines today are broken.

Danville—There are few slot machines operating in this section. Their day ended three years ago when 310 machines were seized shortly they had been brought over the state line from Indiana.

Taylorville—Slot machines banned in Christian county during campaign of Attorney General Cassidy have not come back.

Carlinville—In January the sheriff said he had not received instructions from the attorney general. He said he did not know whether there were any slot machines here. In the latter part of February the sheriff raided four places and confiscated slot machines.

NAVY CAN COPE WITH ANY ENEMY, LEAHY REPORTS

Washington, D. C., May 28.—(AP)—Admiral William D. Leahy, soon to retire as chief of operations and become governor of Porto Rico, reported proudly tonight that the expanding navy had reached a point of efficiency, discipline, and might enabling it to cope with any threat to this country.

"We have a navy built, building, and authorized that will keep any single nation from making an attack in force against the continental United States," he said in a radio address.

The main fleet on the west coast "is in a highly satisfactory condition of readiness," Leahy said.

Praising flyers and planes for the navy's air force, he noted that in the recent fleet problem in the Caribbean "when 550 planes did much night and day flying far out at sea, there was not one casualty to personnel."

"It is believed that there has never been a higher state of efficiency in the fleet than at the present time," he asserted.

Governors Point Way to Sane Economy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—In contrast with the increased expenditures of the federal government under the Roosevelt régime, the newly installed Republican administrations in a dozen states have reduced expenditures 100 million dollars for the next biennium, according to the Republican national committee.

Commenting on the saving reported to date John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, said:

"In bringing National Debt week to a close it is appropriate that attention should be directed to the difficult but splendid efforts being made by Republican governors and legislatures throughout the country to check unbridled public spending.

Wrestle with Problem.

"The importance of the savings made this year lies in the fact that at a time when President Roosevelt and the New Deal are encouraging reckless and extravagant public spending there are men with the courage to wrestle with this problem. The important thing, after all, is that the trend toward ever mounting government costs has been reversed.

"Few people really know the thorny problem with which the Republican governors have been forced to struggle this year. In practically every instance they inherited from their Democratic predecessors unbalanced budgets, policies which call for increased spending and commitments requiring appropriations to be made. But despite these obstacles in the way of orderly state finances many of our governors have succeeded in great measure in restoring sanity to their budgets."

Typical of the savings effected by Republicans in a state which has a Democratic governor is New York. Here the Republican controled legislature trimmed $24,000,000 from the executive budget of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and balanced the budget for the fiscal year 1940 with an estimated surplus of $616,608, compared with a deficit estimated at $662,587.

Kansas Points the Way.

Savings effected in Kansas under Gov. Payne Ratner for the next biennium total $688,067; in Idaho, under Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen, $500,000, and in Ohio, under Gov. John W. Bricker, more than $13,000,000. Gov. William H. Vanderbilt of Rhode Island has made savings of $1,000,000. In South Dakota the legislature, working harmoniously with Gov. Harlan J. Bushfield, abolished a 2 mill levy for property tax, thus saving taxpayers $1,491,794 a year, and cut the cost of state government $1,000,000 a year.

In Iowa Gov. George A. Wilson managed to effect a savings in state administration expenditures of $1,100,000 for each year of the next biennium despite increased appropriations for welfare and educational institutions.

Gov. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts reports that 10 million dollars of the increase in the 1939 budget is traceable to 1938 alone. The preceding governor left just $15,000 in the cash drawer. Last year he had $4,300,000 in free cash. There was an additional $1,500,000 for debt service incurred because of the hurricane, and there was a $5,000,000 increase in welfare disbursements to cities already spent by them.

Pennsylvania Heir to Deficit.

Gov. Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania has to absorb in his budget for the next biennium a deficit of about $42,000,000 left him by his Democratic predecessor. His budget for the biennium calls for a total expenditure of $537,058,913, about 100 million dollars less than the expenses of the current two-year period.

In Connecticut Gov. Raymond E. Baldwin had balanced the budget for the next biennium without new taxes for the first time in a decade. The estimated surplus for the biennium is $200,000.

U. S. TO CONSIDER 14,000 MILES OF NEW AIR ROUTES

Hearings on 48 Permits Start Wednesday.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—Applications for rights to open 14,000 miles of new air routes, most of them in the middle west, will be heard by the Civil Aeronautics authority, beginning on Wednesday. If the new routes are opened the country's 35,000 miles of federal airways will be increased to 49,000 miles.

Forty-eight different applications have been filed by twenty-four companies. Seven are new companies that never have operated air lines. In a number of instances, more than one applicant seeks to provide the same service.

For instance, four companies have petitioned for rights to open a line from Memphis to Shreveport, La., and Houston, Tex. Four others seek to begin service between Denver, Colo., and Kansas City, Mo.

One Chicago Route Sought.

There is only one application for a new line into Chicago. This was filed by Missouri Central Air Lines for a service from Birmingham, Ala., by way of Nashville, Evansville, and Terre Haute to Chicago, with a branch from Nashville to St. Louis, by way of Paducah, Ky.

"An applicant must show that in the territory to be served there is sufficient potential traffic to justify the service," Robert H. Hinckley, chairman of the authority, said today.

"We believe that the law requires proof that a proposed operation can develop mail, passenger, and express revenue to pay its way.

"In judging applications the first consideration will be public interest. The applicant who can show the best ability to serve the public needs will make the best case."

Big New Network.

The routes would provide an entirely new network of both north and south and east and west lines in the area between Denver, New Orleans, Minneapolis, and Washington, D. C.

The only new route sought outside the United States proper is an airway from Anchorage to Nome in Alaska. Pan-American Airways system asked for this to supplement service supplied by its affiliate, Pacific Alaska Airways, Inc.

HOPS TRAIN RIDE; DIES OF FALL.

Arthur Baker, 10 years old, 6410 South Hoyne avenue, died yesterday in the Holy Cross hospital of injuries received Saturday when he fell from a slowly moving freight train on which he had hopped a ride. The accident happened on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at 73d street and Bell avenue.

26 MORE SEIZED FOR VIOLATION OF TAVERN CURFEW

Owners and operators of twenty-five taverns discovered yesterday that police still mean business about enforcing the ordinance which governs their hours of operation. Eighteen taverns were closed and their owners were arrested for keeping them open after 2 a. m., the Sunday deadline. Eight other arrests were made when police found seven taverns open for business before noon, the legal Sunday opening hour.

Saloonkeepers will be watching with interest a meeting today of city officials. It was called to discuss the tavern problem. Aldermen have been called on to liberalize the ordinance.

Many of the tavern owners who were arrested said they took their chances on the basis of an announcement by Judge Francis Borrelli of the South State street court that he would rule that standard and not daylight time should apply to the ordinance.

When the tavern men telephoned district police stations, however, they found that police disagreed with Judge Borrelli. The judge said he could do nothing unles the cases came before him. None of those arrested yesterday is scheduled for his court.

CHINESE GIRL FLIES TO CHICAGO ON WAR RELIEF TOUR OF U. S.

Chinatown turned out yesterday to welcome the young Chinese aviatrix, Miss Ya-Ching Lee, who flew her own plane to Chicago on a good will tour of the United States. A large delegation from Chinese organizations met her at Chicago airport and escorted her to Chinatown for a long, gay parade. Last night she was guest of honor at a reception in the Chinese Christian church, after which she attended a banquet at 2206 Wentworth avenue. She is here to raise funds to aid the war refugees and orphans of China.

28 BOYS IN BLUE TO RALLY CITY ON MEMORIAL DAY

G. A. R. Vets to Answer 73d Muster Tomorrow.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Three-quarters of a century ago as boys, most of them very young boys, they fought for a free and undivided republic. Twenty-six fought on land. Two fought on sea.

Tomorrow at 2 p. m. these twenty-eight "boys in blue," veterans of the Grand Army, or Navy, of the Republic, once again become the center of attention as most of them parade down Michigan boulevard in the seventy-third Memorial day procession. Once, proud, conquering heroes, they marched fifty abreast. Tomorrow possibly eighteen will appear, riding slowly, comfortably—but still proudly—in automobiles.

Year by year their number thins. In 1936 there were forty-three in Cook county. In 1937 there were forty. Last year there were thirty. Now there are twenty-six in the county proper; two on the outskirts. The youngest, once a drummer boy, is 89; the oldest is 99.

The muster roll is:

Frank A. Alles, 1614 Wilmette avenue, Wilmette, 92 years old, served in Company D, 39th Illinois infantry. In many campaigns, including the siege of Vicksburg. Fifteen years ago he marched in the Memorial day parade, but later that day he suffered a stroke and has been an invalid since.

Thomas H. Ambrose, 4358 Drexel boulevard, 90 years old; served five months. Later organized Cincinnati Zouaves. Grand marshal of the parade and head of the college department of the American Book company.

Chief Bugler Still on Call.

Dr. Charles O. Brown, 831 South Grove avenue, Oak Park; chief bugler for the 3d Ohio volunteers.

Capt. Arthur Dawson, 321 North Harvey avenue, Oak Park, 94; served with 15th Illinois volunteers in Fremont's Missouri campaign, was wounded in battle of Shiloh, fought at Vicksburg, and went with Sherman to the sea.

Rev. Thomas F. Dornblazer, 942 Belle Plaine avenue, 99; sergeant; served in Company E, 7th Pennsylvania cavalry; pastor emeritus of Grace Lutheran church.

George Enslow, 414 West 61st place, 94 years old; served in 37th Illinois volunteers for two and one-half years; in battle of Mobile.

Dennis W. Finley, 4349 Washington boulevard, 91; served with Bridge's independent battery, 1st Illinois artillery; later with Kit Carson and Custer in Indian wars.

Albert E. Gage, Hotel La Salle, 94; served in 37th Illinois volunteers; later two years of guerilla warfare.

Jacob Guller, 1526 East 59th street, 93; served in 16th New York artillery, Battery F; wounded at bombardment of Fort Fisher.

John H. Kievlan, Hines hospital, 94; served nine months in 153d Illinois infantry and later in Spanish-American war.

Carried Sheridan's Dispatches.

Frank Munsell, 4222 Oakenwald avenue, 94; two enlistments with 2d Wisconsin cavalry as horse scout, carrying dispatches for Sheridan and Sherman.

Lieut. Milton H. Myers, 918 Crescent avenue, Park Ridge, 97; served three years in 84th and 110th Ohio infantry.

Rollin B. Organ, 920 East 44th street, 93; enlisted in navy and served as coxswain of the captain's gig; on gunboat Fort Hundman in siege of Vicksburg; Red river expeditions in 1863-'64.

James Quigley, 7923 North Harding avenue, 91; entered navy in 1864 and served for duration of war in "mosquito squadron" off coast of Florida.

Prisoner of Confederacy.

Edward Scharenburg, 5142 Strong street, 98; served three years in cavalry, Army of Potomac; six months in Confederate prison at Staunton, Va.

William P. Turner, 1911 Colfax avenue, Evanston; corporal in 12th Ohio cavalry.

William W. Wright, 531 Hinman avenue, Evanston, 93; served with 28th Illinois infantry, Company C.

Silas Nichols, 506 Poplar street, Waukegan, 91; enlisted in 135th Ohio in 1864; served until mustered out in Camp Chase, Md.

J. C. Trask, 128 Fremont avenue, Elmhurst, 95; served with 7th Michigan cavalry, Company L.

Two other veterans, members of Cook county posts of the G. A. R., divide their time between Chicago and other cities. William P. Lockwood, who will be the only G. A. R. veteran in Kankakee tomorrow, spends much time with his daughter at 4447 North Magnolia avenue. G. F. Hillman, now in Wisconsin, lives with a daughter at 3513 Jackson boulevard. Swan Miller, still a member of a Chicago post, now lives in Michigan and Hiram M. Pense resides in Detroit.

TRIBUTES LAUNCH MEMORIAL DAY'S TRIPLE HOLIDAY

Memorial services were held in many parts of the city yesterday as Chicago began a three day observance of Memorial day.

Thousands visited the cemeteries where veterans lie buried. Others attended solemn ceremonies at the Chicago Historical society museum and at Lincoln's statue in Lincoln park, where speakers called upon modern America to honor the memory of its soldier dead by reconsecrating itself to peace.

The Chicago Typographical union, No. 16, and the Old Time Printers' association held an international Memorial day service yesterday afternoon in the Grand Opera house, 121 North Clark street.

Tomorrow will be a legal holiday, with banks, public institutions, most business houses, and all public schools closed. Many schools will observe Memorial day today, the programs to be featured by military band concerts, pageants, R. O. T. C. demonstrations, and programs on Americanization.

ROBBER CATCHING POLICEMAN OF 11 RESCUES LOST BOY

Jerome Itskovitz is only 11 years old, but he's an honorary member of the Chicago police department. He even has a police star, presented to him by Commissioner Allman. He earned the star by capturing a robber.

As an honorary policeman, Jerome's motto is: "Do my duty when I see it." Last night he saw his duty when he came across a boy who was crying at Clark and Kinzie streets. Jerome flashed his star. "What's the matter?" he asked. The boy said he was lost.

Jerome took the lad to his father's clothing store at 353 North Clark street, fed him and then called Chicago avenue police. Not long afterward the lost boy, David Bell, 9, of 2426 Janssen avenue, was returned home. Jerome didn't think his deed exceptional. Last December he caught a thief who stole a coat from the Itskovitz store. He stopped him by threatening him with a toy pistol.

World's Fair Concession Too Realistic for His Eyes

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—A near-sighted customer in the Indian bazaar, one of the Merrie England concessions at the world's fair, today slipped a quarter into the hand of a dignified lady in rich Hindu garb. "Tell my fortune," he pleaded, "and no silly stuff." The lady stiffened. So did the dark, distinguished man at her side. They were the Maharajah and Maharanee of Nepal. They hurried out of the bazaar, stopping only long enough to return the two bits.

NEW YORK BARS ANTI-AMERICANS FROM PUBLIC JOBS

Lehman Signs Bill to Outlaw Uniforms.

Albany, N. Y., May 28.—(AP)—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today signed a bill barring from New York's civil service and public school teaching systems those advocating the violent overthrow of American democracy.

Gov. H. H. Lehman.

Simultaneously the frequently outspoken champion of constitutional liberties approved a measure admittedly aimed at the German - American Bund. This new act makes unlawful the wearing of uniforms similar to those of official or semi-official forces of any foreign state.

Bolsters Old Laws.

Lehman, who last year vetoed a bill specifically barring communists from the civil service, said in a memorandum the new proposal "strikes only at the commission of acts, already defined as criminal by the penal law, of inciting men to subvert by violence or other unlawful means our government and constitution."

He termed the bar on foreign uniforms a precaution calculated to prevent a division of American citizens along racial or nationalistic lines.

"It has become increasingly evident that there are in New York state several uniformed organizations whose avowed purpose is to subvert our American institutions," the governor said.

Sponsored by G. O. P.

The anti-uniform law was sponsored by Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Senate Majority Leader Joe R. Hanley, both Republicans, who introduced it at the request of Edwin F. Jaeckle, chairman of the Republican state executive committee.

The law provides a maximum penalty of one year imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

Exempted from its provisions are American fraternal organizations, Boy Scouts, recognized schools and academies, and the cast of any stage or motion picture production characterizing officials of a foreign state.

ISOLATION POLICY WOULD IMPERIL U. S., SAYS HULL

Secretary of State Talks to Chicagoans.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull last night predicted disastrous results for this country if it adopts a policy of isolation from foreign troubles. He spoke before the Chicago Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall.

He assailed the contention of New Deal critics that the United States should give all of its attention to its domestic problems.

"There is no more disastrous illusion than the thought that a policy of national isolation would make it easier for us to solve our great domestic problems," Hull said. "The exact reverse is true.

Stresses Trade Dependence.

"The great resources of this country are not sufficient to meet our needs for the standards of living we desires," he said. "Dispensing with imports would cause the loss of markets for exports. The result of the whole process would be to lower still further our standards of living."

Hull also contended that isolation would increase the risk of the United States becoming embroiled in war. As long as some nations are willing to fight to get what they want there is a "possibility that such a challenge might one day be directed against us," he said.

Therefore, said the secretary, this country should play "its appropriate rôle as a member of the family of nations." The first aspect of this rôle is the maintenance of world order, he asserted.

The United States can help to bring about world order by observing the principles of justice and fair dealing, Hull averred, and by using its moral influence to induce other nations to do likewise.

Raps Dictatorship Serfdom.

Hull did not refer to dictatorships but spoke critically of economic systems which do not allow individual freedom.

"It is true that a measure of economic security is possible without freedom of the individual," he continued. "But that is the security of serfdom."

Hull arrived from Washington early in the evening and left on his return trip immediately after the meeting. He was met at the Union station by Clifford W. Barnes, president of the club.

He was asked why he had snubbed two leading critics on the house foreign affairs committee when he had other members of the house and senate groups meet him in his apartment Friday for a discussion of neutrality legislation.

"It's a long story," the secretary replied, "and I haven't time to tell it now."

Refuses to Answer Fish.

He also declined to comment on a radio address by Representative Hamilton Fish [Rep., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the committee, who was one of the two who received no invitation. Fish referred to the meeting in Secretary Hull's apartment as "a secret and mysterious conclave." The other uninvited member was Representative George H. Tinkham [R., Mass.].

"When you've been in Washington a while you don't pay any attention to little incidents like that," Hull said. "I frequently talk to members of the committee in my office or my apartment."

AIRPLANE FALLS, SKIDS INTO POOL AND KILLS BOY

Greensburg, Pa., May 28.—(AP)—An airplane fell out of control in a field near this western Pennsylvania city today and skidded into a shallow pool, where two boys were swimming, killing one and critically injuring the other. The pilot escaped injury and the co-pilot suffered only a bruised knee. The dead boy was Peter Kodylak, 12 years old, of Greensburg, R. F. D., 2, and his injured companion is Joseph Woyets, 15, of nearby Ambrust. The plane, a Piper Cub J-2, was piloted by David Patterson of Greensburg, with Nicholas Plevia of Monongahela river lock No. 4, as co-pilot.

DISCOVER SOME BIRDS CAN HEAR ONLY HIGH TONES

Cornell Tells Results of Experiments.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 28.—(AP)—A discovery that some birds do not hear ordinary human voice tones, but only sounds two octaves and more higher than middle C on the piano, was made public today at Cornell university.

Many puzzling actions of birds may be explained by the evidence of these little-suspected tendencies. The tests were made with an electric platform on which birds stood while feeding in cages in Cornell's laboratory of ornithology. The experiments were handled by Albert R. Brand and P. Paul Kellogg.

Warned by Whistle.

The birds were able to get food only by standing on the electrical platform, which was uncharged most of the time. They were trained to know that a whistling sound was a warning that if they remained at the box, their feet would get a slight electric shock.

After about a week the birds would step off the platform when they heard this warning, and so avoid the shock. With this habit established, the sound was varied, up and down the scale, to measure the range of hearing.

Pigeons Hear Lower Tones.

When the tone dropped to about two octaves above middle C the sparrows and starlings paid no attention to the warning, because they no longer heard it. The sparrows' hearing washed out at 675 cycles a second, the starlings at 700, a slightly higher note. The pigeons apparently could hear faintly down to 200, or more than two octaves lower. But below 500 cycles they appeared rather insensitive to sound.

None of the upper hearing limits of these birds surpassed the best human ears. The sparrows ceased to hear high pitched sounds at 11,500 cycles which is less than the human average. The starlings and pigeons went up to 15,000, a feat that only the best human ears match.

AMERICAN PILOT HURT IN FRENCH GLIDER CONTEST

PARIS, May 28.—(AP)—Richard Randolph, American glider pilot of Akron, O., crashed after a flight at St. Germain today, injuring himself and four spectators.

Randolph was competing with European flyers for the first world cup for glider acrobatics offered by the newspaper Le Petit Parisien.

The American and the four others were taken to St. Germain hospital where they were said to be "seriously bruised." The cup was won by Marcel Doret of France, who was accorded 449 points by the judges. Randolph placed fifth with 170 points.

BORAH HITS HULL PLAN AS MAKING ARSENAL OF U. S.

Leaders of Both Parties Foresee Long Battle.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] today asserted that the practical effect of Secretary of State Cordell Hull's recommended revision of the neutrality act would be to make an arsenal out of the United States.

Questioning the wisdom of permitting arms sales to nations at war, as Hull proposed, the veteran Republican member of the senate foreign relations committee said he feels this would not serve the cause of peace or humanity in any way.

Leaders in both parties said congress would have to remain in session far into the summer if the issue is to be fought out to a showdown.

George Envisions Delay.

Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.] said the proposal to repeal the mandatory embargo on arms sales to belligerents is certain to meet with stubborn opposition in the senate.

Some informed legislators expressed the opinion that the administration might not press for senate action on the proposals at this session. They said that if a bill embodying the suggestions were passed by the house the senate could take it up next session and be free to act—whatever the international developments in the meantime—without this country being in the embarrassing positon of initiating changes in its neutrality act at a time when a conflict between other nations was in progress.

Bill Already Drafted.

Hull's recommendations were advanced yesterday in letters to Chairman Key Pittman [D., Nev.] and Acting Chairman Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.] of the senate and house foreign committees.

Bloom already has drafted a bill to carry out the secretary's ideas. This measure would:

1. Repeal the present automatic embargo on arms sales to belligerents. [Nations at war would be free to buy arms as well as other products in this country.]
2. Permit the President to define ocean combat areas which American ships could not visit and restrict travel by American citizens in those areas.
3. Prohibit loans and credits to belligerents except ordinary commercial credits and short time obligations which the President would have discretion to permit.
4. Forbid solicitation of funds in this country for belligerents.
5. Continue the munitions control board to regulate arms trafic.

PRE-CHICAGO FOOTPRINTS (1)

By CALEB

WANDERERS along the far shoreline of Chicago history that winds and widens away from the loud, bright present into the deeper and stiller past, find there countless and interesting footprints. Earliest and least distinguishable of all are the moccasin-marks of Indians who roamed the woods, glades and marshlands of the Shekag-ong, or Wild Onion River, where it linked one of the subsequently named Great Lakes to the Des Plaines river, that in turn joined the Illinois, which in its own time mingled with the Mississippi—and so completed the waterway alliance between the St. Lawrence and the Gulf of Mexico.

Next, and gradually more decipherable, one finds the imprint of later feet—the feet of Frenchmen . . . explorers, traders, missionaries . . . who brought to these wild territories and their wild Nature-children the first contacts with seventeenth-century Europe. Theirs was a Europe incurably curious to search out and annex the lands and trade resources of this vast new continent so bandied about in the gossip of warring courts. The footprints, now, become those of Tonty, Marquette, Joliet, Hennepin and La Salle—eager merchant venturers and priests, racing the tardier English for possession and exploitation of a world like nothing before dreamed of in Civilization's philosophy. . . .

Relentlessly—a racer no destiny keeps pace with—time itself manipulates the pattern of footprints. And presently we discover the many paths worn by the comings and goings of John Kinzie, generally accredited Chicago's first resident. And now, as we near the one-time site of fort and cabins that in swift metamorphosis became trading-post, hamlet, village, town, and city, we encounter a veritable palimpsest of footprints, like the uncountable sands of the sea for number.

Who shall say which of these, amid the turbulent inrush and onrush of people and events, is the mark of the great or unique career, as against the mediocre multitudes surrounding it? No one, perhaps, with finality. And yet—even here there are footprints that were left, unmistakably, by men whose works and influence enduringly contributed to, and shaped, the city's final greatness.

It will be a pleasant adventure in reminiscence to single out, from time to time, certain of these "Builders of Chicago" from its footprint-crowded history . . . and give them, if only in briefest summary, a momentarily renewed reality—as statesmen, clergymen, industrialists, educators, merchants and philanthropists of yesterday, to whom we of today owe a debt that is unrepayable.

ITALIAN-GERMAN GOAL FOR LIVING SPACE REVEALED

Editor Says Axis Is After Economic Parity.

ROME, May 28.—(AP)—What Italy and Germany, united and ready for action, really want is a sweeping world-wide territorial revision to place them on a basis of economic parity with wealthier powers, Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, asserted today in an interview. There can be no hope of peace until they get it, he said.

Gayda, regarded as a spokesman for Premier Mussolini, made it clear that Italy and Germany would not be satisfied merely by winning relatively minor claims such as those on Tunisia and Danzig.

[For the last six months Fascists have clamored for realization of Italy's colonial aspirations at France's expense, particularly in Tunisia, French protectorate in North Africa. The Free City of Danzig, nominally governed through a league of nations commissioner but actually under Nazi domination, was taken from Germany after the world war. Germany wants its return but Poland, for whom it is an important port and whose customs administration includes the free city, insists its status be left unchanged.]

Puts Problem Up to Powers.

Gayda did not say whether the axis partners would make a formal demand for such revision or how soon they would act to get their demands or in what manner they would go about it.

He said, however, that the signing of the Italian-German military alliance [in Berlin last week] placed the issue squarely up to Great Britain and France.

This earth, he asserted, has enough for all the peoples who live on it and the British and French empires are bulging with "superfluous lands, some of them unpopulated and abandoned."

Italy and Germany, Gayda said, have not enough space to live on; division of territories is the only solution of the problem; there need be no war to solve it but there can be no peace until it is solved. That is his view of the world situation today.

Demands Parity of Position.

Gayda, editor of Rome's leading newspaper, Il Giornale d'Italia, said:

"Italy and Germany demand parity, or equivalence, of means, of independent work and of position. This is the general problem of the repartition of colonies.

"This does not mean a solution of this problem must necessarily bring war. Great Britain and France, with stationary populations, have colonial territories vital to them and also superfluous ones. This is so true that many territories capable of greater productivity remain unpopulated and are abandoned.

"Italy and Germany, with growing populations, on the other hand, need new territories for their people. The conflict then is not between two spheres of vital interests but between the vital need of Italy and Germany for territory and a régime of superfluous territories of Great Britain and France.

Takes Dig at France.

"This is the great general problem which will dominate the history of Europe in coming months.

"The problems of Tunisia, Suez and Djibouti, although important, are minor problems. They concern among other things the obligation of France to give Italy compensations pledged in the London pact of 1915 and unpaid up to now and the obligation of France to recognize the rights of Italian citizens in Tunisia.

"Italy insists that the problems of Tunisia, Djibouti and Suez be solved but she intends that the more general right to parity or colonial equivalence be considered with serious attention.

"The claims Italy has already voiced against France are not directed toward increasing her living standard but are absolutely necessary to permit Italy, with her teeming and ever increasing population, to live.

"It is this determination to live and the ultimate goal of obtaining economic parity among nations that has led Italy into her alliance with Germany and other nations deprived of means to existence."

FASCIST WOMEN WITH GUNS WIN PRAISE OF DUCE

70,000 March in Rome Celebration.

ROME, May 28.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini exalted the part Italian women are playing in Italy's march to greater power today in a brief speech before 70,000 representatives of women's Fascist organizations.

Il Duce appeared on the balcony at Venezia palace to address his huge audience after legions of women and girls, some bearing bayoneted rifles, had marched past along the Street of Empire.

The paraders represented all branches of activities of women's Fascist organizations—the training of women for colonial life, for nursing, anti-aircraft defense, and industrial work to replace men.

Represent Empire.

From all parts of the Italian kingdom and empire they gathered at Il Duce's call.

All passed in review in military formation, swinging along spiritedly to the beat of martial music, riding bicycles or driving motor cars and ambulances with the precision of veterans. One sizable group rode by wearing grotesque gas masks.

Praised by Duce.

"You have appeared and you have marched in superb manner, truly Fascist, and you have shown yourselves to be a dependable force in the service of the country and its régime," Il Duce told them. "To all of you my best wishes, my greetings, and my praise."

In contrast to the khaki uniformed women preparing to settle in the far reaches of Libya and Ethiopia as wives of colonists, were rural housewives in bright peasant costumes.

Small rifles designed especially for women were carried by those going to the colonies.

BULLITT DEFENDS DRIVE TO CURB DICTATOR STATES

Says There Are Times When Men Must Fight.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 28.—Declaring that the world would be in a much worse state than it is today if Germany had won the world war, William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to France, in a Memorial day speech at the American Legion cemetery at Neuilly, strongly upheld the stand of the western powers against the dictatorships.

"Let us not forget that there are times when men must take up arms to save all that is worthy in human life and that if arms break peace they also defend it," the ambassador said.

Refers to "Foul World."

Mentioning "shallow critics" who said that the sacrifice of American soldiers was useless and that another world war is inevitable, he exclaimed: "I believe that both these statements are profoundly untrue."

"Since the armistice of 1918 the history of the world has been blackened by wars of conquest," Bullitt said. "But it requires nothing more than an examination of the treaties of Brest-Litovsk and Bucharest to convince any man that, if these soldiers had not fought as they fought and if the war had not been won by the side which won it, the condition of mankind would be far worse than it is today. They prevented the creation of a world far fouler than the world in which we live."

[Under the Brest-Litovsk treaty, bolshevik Russia made peace with the central powers. Rumania did the same in the treaty of Bucharest.]

Envoy Asks a Question.

"Why have nations accepted burdens and obligations for remote people?" the ambassador asked.

"Because they know that if the great nations wash their hands while the lesser powers are destroyed the day will come when they themselves face the enemy without friends," he answered.

Speaking on the same occasion, Premier Edouard Daladier said that France, in spite of repeated menaces, does not want to abandon the hope of saving peace.

"The French never pretended to be a superior race," he said. "France never pronounced a word and never accomplished an act that was the word or act of menace or oppression."

GUNMEN RAID BUS OFFICE.

SNITE WATCHES RITE AT LOURDES SHRINE AFTER MOUNTAIN RIDE

LOURDES, France, May 28.—(AP)—Fred B. Snite Jr. of River Forest, Ill., the man in the iron lung, saw the Pentecostal Procession of the Blessed Sacrament at the Lourdes shrine today amid a group of invalids from Leeds, England.

Earlier in the afternoon the infantile paralysis victim, who made a 5,000 mile pilgrimage here in his mechanical respirator, was placed in his streamlined trailer for a two hour trip through the Pyrenees mountains.

A group of 400 pilgrims, headed by the bishop of Leeds, included 62 invalids who watched the procession from places near the trailer in which Snite's iron lung is carried. About 10,000 persons saw the procession of the sacrament, one of the largest pilgrimages held at the shrine this year. More than 2,000 pilgrims took part in the procession itself.

POLAND IN TIGHT SPOT OVER PACT TO STOP HITLER

Powers Warn Warsaw to Side with Russia.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, May 28.—Diplomatic activities of Great Britain and France, notably on the project of a mutual assistance pact with soviet Russia, are forcing the Polish government out of its breath-holding attitude.

Since the hubbub which has filled Europe since Germany's seizure of Czecho-Slovakia, the Poles have clung steadily to the line of diplomacy they fixed years ago and which is practically imposed on them by their geographical position. Although taking a strong defensive line against Germany they have tried to hold the balance even. They especially have tried to avoid swinging toward Russia and conscientiously have been attempting to keep from giving Germany any offense.

Put Pressure on Poland.

Since the news from the league of nations on Friday that the British-French-soviet pact is practically an accomplished fact, concerted pressure is being put on Warsaw to make it adopt a definite pro-soviet attitude.

It has been represented to high officialdom here that in view of the loans which Warsaw is expecting for armaments from London and Paris, the Poles will have to pretend to like Moscow whatever may be their real sentiments.

This pressure is proving a problem to Polish diplomacy. The Polish semi-official attitude is that the pact is not a matter which concerns Warsaw. Polish relations with Moscow are covered by a nonaggression treaty dating from 1932 and a commercial agreement signed last November.

The Poles believe these sufficient to cover all points. The commercial agreement, for instance, if used to the full extent, would cover the case of Poland buying airplanes, munitions and other war supplies from Russia in case of need.

Poles Are Annoyed.

It is annoying to the Poles to be asked to go farther, for instance, to make any open declaration that they would welcome soviet military detachments on Polish soil coöperating in the defense of Poland. The suggestion that Poland is ready for such an arrangement has been made by the "war at any price" press of Paris and London and already has provoked violent reaction in Berlin.

The Poles see themselves being dragooned into the position of the spearhead of an ideological crusade against Germany. The Polish attitude is different. The Poles sum it up by saying they are willing to fight a war of defense if necessary but are not willing to fight a war of religion.

There is more than the desire not to give offense to Germany gratuitously to account for Polish coldness toward the soviet. Russia remains a traditional enemy of Poland—as much so as Germany. Furthermore, the Poles have not forgotten the war of 1920, when the bolsheviks tried to conquer their country. In the governing circles of Poland the distrust of bolshevism is as deep as ever.

To Cut Down on Exports.

Influence from Paris and London also is being brought to bear on Poland's commercial relations with Germany. When the present export quotas of Poland to Germany come up for revision soon it is admitted that there will be a big reduction in Polish exports to Germany, including wheat, rye, lumber, dairy products, and flax. Exports now being sent to Germany will be sent to Belgium, Britain, and France.

Another problem for Polish diplomacy is created by the presence in Warsaw of Leon Prchala, former Czecho-Slovak general, who slipped into Poland from Slovakia. His avowed object is to organize a Czecho-Slovak legion to fight alongside the Poles if war comes. Similar legions, Gen. Prchala said, are being organized in the United States by former President Eduard Benes and in France by Stefan Osusky, former Czecho-Slovak minister to Paris.

He charged that the Germans are plundering his country by requisitioning all movable goods. He said 180,000 Czechs have been taken to Germany to do forced labor on fortifications and in plants for war supplies.

JAPANESE BOMBS WRECK AMERICAN MISSION SCHOOL

Foochow Raids Leave Many Casualties.

FOOCHOW, China, May 28.—(AP)—Japanese warplanes bombed Foochow twice today, killing and injuring an undetermined number of inhabitants and adding to the considerable property damage caused by five air raids last Friday.

Arrow locates port bombed by Japanese.

Reports from Putien, southwest of here, said the American Methodist mission was the principal sufferer from Thursday's raids on that city by Japanese naval aircraft. The mission's church, girls' school, girls' dormitory, and foreign teachers' residence were destroyed, but all persons attached to the mission fled to safety before the raid. The primary school of the British Church Missionary society also was struck and badly damaged. Several Chinese teachers and children were injured, but there were no deaths.

Menace Fishermen.

Eyewitnesses along the coast at the mouth of the Min river east of Foochow reported the boarding by Japanese seamen of a coastal steamer flying the British flag. The ship, the name of which was not learned, was detained five hours.

Reports from that vicinity said the Japanese navy had inaugurated a campaign against Chinese fishermen venturing from the mouth of the river to seek their livelihood. Eyewitnesses said that in recent days Japanese had turned machine guns upon many small fishing craft, crowded not only with fishermen but also with their wives and children.

German Vessel Halted.

SHANGHAI, May 28.—(AP)—The German Hamburg-American line announced today its liner Sauerland had been stopped and boarded by Japanese and a protest against the action had been made by German diplomatic representatives.

It said the incident, the third involving European liners, took place last Wednesday when the 7,087 ton Sauerland was overtaken by a Japanese warship. The steamer, en route to Hongkong from Singapore, was almost within Hongkong waters when halted. The boarding party demanded to see the ship's papers and then withdrew.

FOUND HANGED IN FOREST.

A poorly dressed man about 60 years old was found hanged yesterday in the forest preserve at Bryn Mawr avenue and the north branch of the river.

NAZIS BAN RADIO BROADCASTS OF RELIGIOUS RITES

Curb Sale of Bibles and Church Tracts.

BERLIN, May 28.—(AP)—Devout Protestants and Roman Catholics listened in vain today for Whitsunday religious programs on the air.

Inquiry disclosed that Germany has banned radio broadcasts of religious services and that the Nazi government also is putting a curb on the sale of Bible and church tracts.

Orders such as the radio ban are not published, but are transmitted secretly by the propaganda ministry to the government broadcasting administration. Examination of radio programs for the past four weeks indicated that radio sermons had disappeared unannounced, possibly months ago.

Government Controls Radio.

The radio, it was explained, is a government institution and the government is not a "confessional" or church body.

Church officials have urged that the broadcasts be resumed for the benefit of invalids and those who live far from churches, but their requests have found official ears deaf.

A new order of the reich's literary chamber, an adjunct of the propaganda ministry, provides that Bibles and religious tracts may be put on display only in Confessional book stores. In general book stores Bibles may be sold only when specifically ordered.

There are few stores devoted solely to the sale of religious literature in Germany.

Pastors Lose Subsidies.

A further order by the chamber provides that Bible or tract societies no longer may subsidize book publishers, but that all such publications must pay for themselves.

Religious circles contend that publication of tracts usually is possible only because the publisher is subsidized by societies interested in distribution of these tracts.

Reports reaching officials of the Protestant Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] synod also indicate that the state has declined to pay its customary subsidies to a considerable number of Lutheran and Evangelical ministers who have not whole-heartedly embraced Nazism.

About fifty ministers in the Rhineland, fifteen in Silesia, and twenty-five in Berlin and Brandenburg were said thus to have had parts of their income cut off.

Refuse to Obey Church Head.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, May 28.—Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] church pastors read from their pulpits today a proclamation from the Confessional synod declaring it no longer considered orders of Dr. Friedrick Werner, head of the supreme council of the German Evangelical church, as "legally binding."

It was asserted that Dr. Werner had placed himself "beyond the pale of the Church of Christ" by his action of "declaring himself in agreement with the principles of the German Christian [Nazi] movement." The proclamation referred to a statement issued April 6 in the German Evangelical Church Gazette and signed by Dr. Werner and ten bishops and ministers. In it Dr. Werner expressed the determination of the Evangelical council to coördinate its work with the principles of the German Christian movement.

These principles include the belief an "international or independent church is a political deprivation of Christianity and that the Christian faith stands in immovable opposition to Jewry."

Germany Offers 'Peace Plan' to Poland, Report in Berlin

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 28.—Reports prevailed in Berlin today that Germany's ambassador to Poland, Count Hans Adolf von Moltke, has presented a so-called peace plan about the Free City of Danzig and the Polish corridor to the Warsaw government. Official German circles disclaimed any knowledge of such proposals.

Count Hans von Moltke.

"If this report is true," said a Polish diplomat, "it merely means that Germany is trying to lure us into restricting our mobilization and thus make it easier for her to act when she feels the time has come. We will not allow ourselves to be lulled by mere suggestions."

Call Envoy's Position Shaky.

Germans close to the government pointed out that Count von Moltke's position in Warsaw is slightly shaky, and that Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, was considering withdrawing him and replacing him with a diplomat who is closer to him personally.

Von Ribbentrop is considering a general reorganization of the foreign service to give more prominence to the men willing to obey him blindly.

Wants to Be the Boss.

To date Von Ribbentrop has won, and his position is consolidated. He wants to be the only one to direct Germany's foreign and propaganda policies. He has requested Hitler to forbid Goering, Von Neurath and Goebbels to use their connections and influence to help shape Germany's foreign policy, which they have done heretofore.

Whether Hitler will accede to his plea is uncertain. However, as matters stand now the scales are tipping in Von Ribbentrop's favor. A great part of the army is trying to use its influence with the Fuehrer in favor of Goering.

It has been noted that in recent weeks all minor leaders of the various Nazi organizations, such as the Labor Front and Hitler Youth, had to obtain Von Ribbentrop's approval before they could accept any foreign invitations.

AGENT OF LEAGUE BACK IN DANZIG; TENSION MOUNTS

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, May 28.—(AP)—Charles Burckhardt, league of nations commissioner to Danzig, returned today after an absence of several months and found tension increasing in the free city.

The commissioner came from Warsaw where he had a long talk yesterday with Foreign Minister Josef Beck of Poland. It was understood here that Beck gave him little hope that either Poland or Germany would negotiate for the return of Danzig to Germany at any immediate date.

Uncertainty as to the free city's future was beginning to tell on the nerves of Danzigers.

Cuba Turns Back 104 Jewish Refugees on French Liner

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, May 28.—Cuban immigration authorities refused entry today to 104 Jewish refugees who arrived from Le Havre, France, aboard the French liner Flandre. The ship sailed for Vera Cruz, Mexico, but since the refugees have visas for Cuba, it was expected they would return next week and make another attempt to land.

STUDY JUDICIAL BIDS OF CULVER, SALTIEL, EWEN

Latter Long a Leader in Republican Activity.

This is the twenty-first in a series of stories on candidates in the judicial election June 5. Republicans are now being reviewed.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

William R. T. Ewen was a leading member of the old Hamilton club for twenty-five years and was chaiman of its political action committee. He is a member of the advisory board of the Volunteers of America and has organized boys' clubs in Chicago and Evanston.

William R. T. Ewen.

Mr. Ewen is 59 years old. He was born in Chicago and educated in the public schools, Lewis institute, and Northwestern university, receiving his law degree from the latter institution in 1905. He has been in active law practice ever since.

Served on Law Faculties.

At various times he has been on the faculty of the Chicago Business Law school and the Western College of Law and has lectured on commercial law at the Armour institute. He has been active on several bar association committees. He was a Republican precinct captain in Evanston from 1928 to 1932.

Mr. Ewen is married and lives at 1316 Judson avenue, Evanston. The bar association committee on candidates said of him: "He has had an active professional experience through which he has demonstrated the possession of legal ability and integrity, together with the temperament and capacity for judicial office. He is well qualified." The lawyers gave him 822 votes on 2,083 ballots.

W. D. SALTIEL IN RACE

William D. Saltiel has held several public offices and claims the distinction of being the youngest man ever to appear in Who's Who in America. His name was first included in that volume in 1925, when he was 29 years old.

William D. Saltiel.

Born in Chicago forty-three years ago, Mr. Saltiel was educated in the public schools and received his degree from the Chicago-Kent College of Law in 1920. His father, the late Leopold Saltiel, was a prominent attorney. During the world war, Mr. Saltiel was in the navy, being assigned to the Great Lakes training station.

Served in City Offices.

Mr. Saltiel was an assistant corporation counsel from 1920 to 1923 and was city attorney from 1927 to 1931. Later he was special attorney for the board of education. He is now counsel for the Chicago City Opera company. He has been a speaker for the Republican national committee and also has addressed numerous clubs and business and civic organizations. He is conversant with six foreign languages.

Mr. Saltiel is married and has a stepson. His home is at 73 East Elm street. Of him the bar committee wrote: "He possesses integrity, legal ability, a calm demeanor, fairness of judgment, and other qualities manifesting judicial capacity. He is qualified for office." The bar association gave him 592 votes on 2,083 ballots.

ALVIN H. CULVER

Alvin H. Culver, who has been a Chicago attorney for forty-four years, was a star athlete in his undergraduate days at Northwestern university. He was a tackle on the N. U. eleven and at one time held the Big Ten pole vaulting record. He coached the Wildcats' football team in 1895 and 1896.

Alvin H. Culver.

Mr. Culver's ancestors fought in the revolutionary and civil wars. He was born in Chicago sixty-six years ago and was admitted to the bar in 1895 after his graduation from Northwestern that year. One of his first law partners was Martin Gridley, now a judge of the Superior court assigned to the Illinois Appellate bench. He has been prominent on several bar association committees.

Father of Gridiron Star.

Mr. Culver lives at 103 Broadway, Wilmette. He is married and has four children, one of whom, Alvin S., was an all-American tackle at Notre Dame several years ago.

The bar committee reported that "he is a man of integrity and a lawyer of diligence, ability, and experience, and is qualified for office." He received 625 out of a possible 2,083 votes in the bar election.

ALLEGAN MAN KILLED BY CAR.

Allegan, Mich., May 28.—[Special.]—Lambert Groothuis, 61 years old, was struck and killed here last night by a car driven by John Ter Leer of route 2, Hamilton, Mich. Groothuis was walking on the street at the time.

Rival Chiefs State Issues in County Judicial Election

Spokesmen for the two rival tickets in the Cook county judicial election next Monday issued these statements yesterday setting forth their views of the principal issues in the campaign:

The statement of Chairman Edward F. Moore of the Cook county Republican central committee said that thousands of independent voters and Democrats undominated by their party organization are rallying to the support of the G. O. P. ticket in the election.

"Republican voters in Cook county," he said, "are rejoicing because the Republican county committee, by unanimous vote, has placed on the ballot a complete slate of Republican candidates chosen for their high character and ability and for their loyalty to the Republican party.

Tells of Spurned Invitation.

"They were chosen after sitting judges who profess allegiance to the Republican party spurned our invitation to accept places on the Republican ticket and chose the label of the New Deal Democratic party.

"Abraham Lincoln said eighty years ago, 'Do not sacrifice principle to coalition,' and we have not done so. We have chosen candidates true to Republican principles.

"Machine-free Democrats and independent voters are flocking to the support of the Republican ticket in order to take advantage of the opportunity to break up the complete control of all of our judges now held by the Democratic machine.

Voters Termed Resentful.

"They welcome the chance to demonstrate that the people of Cook county will not stand for having justice dispensed as decreed by the arrogant bosses of a job hungry, fee grabbing machine.

"Time after time the people of Cook county have expressed their resentment of efforts by political overlords to control our judiciary. They realize that only by voting for the Republican ticket at this election can the present politico-judicial oligarchy in Cook county be smashed.

"They are also, in ever increasing numbers, voting straight Republican to emphasize their growing demand for a change from the present intolerable conditions imposed on us by New Deal officials in all branches of our national, state, and local governments."

The only issue in the judicial election is whether the courts shall be partisan or independent, Henry F. Tenny, chairman of the Citizen's Nonpartisan Judicial Campaign committee, said in the Democrats' statement.

"At no time within my recollection," he said, "have the electors chosen a Circuit or Superior court bench from any one political party. It is now seriously proposed to depart from that practice and choose a Circuit court bench composed entirely of candidates of one of the parties and candidates who are practically without judicial experience.

"I think I know the voters who adhere to the traditions of the Republican party, and I find it impossible to believe that those who would now lead it represent the real sentiment of those voters.

Backs Principle of Coalition.

"The best traditions of the Republican party, both in state and nation, have favored a nonpartisan administration of justice by independent judges.

"The Republican Cook county organization stands, by its own record, for the principle of coalition by reason of the fact that—even though a separate ticket has been nominated under the Republican label—no action ever has been taken to rescind adoption of a resolution favoring coalition and indorsing the sitting judges.

"The Republican sitting judges accepted places on the Democratic ticket with the understanding that this was in compliance with the thought of the Republican leadership. The next day the judges learned that a straight Republican ticket had been nominated.

Urges Consideration of Record.

"I ask the Republican voters of Cook county to consider whether decent political leadership is consistent with such tactics. I ask all voters, partisan and independent, to consider the splendid records of the men on the coalition ticket.

"I am confident that it will be readily apparent to every thinking citizen that election of the coalition candidates on the Democratic ticket will insure judicial independence."

DOZEN AWAITING EYE GRAFTING TO REGAIN SIGHT

Restoration of eyesight to a dozen persons is possible within the next few months through operations scheduled to be performed in the County hospital. Each will involve the grafting onto the living eye of a cornea from an eye of a person recently dead. The grafting will be performed as corneas become available.

Two men and a woman, already operated on, are awaiting removal of bandages to determine whether the delicate operations were successful. They are Owen Edwards, 52 years old, 4814 South Union avenue, a roofer; Patrick Sullivan, 47, of 14 Maple street, a WPA worker, and Mrs. Alice Jones, colored, of 2311 Fulton street.

Edwards and Sullivan were operated on by Dr. Richard A. Perritt. Mrs. Jones' operation was performed by Dr. William F. Moncreiff. Edwards will be examined today and again Friday.

RAILROAD RIVALS TO FORGET ABOUT IT—FOR ONE DAY

Determined to be the perfect guest, Conductor Lloyd Mathers of the Burlington railroad's Zephyr streamliner is going to say something complimentary about the Milwaukee Road's streamliner Hiawatha today. And, just as determined to be the perfect host, Conductor Ernest Haddock of the Hiawatha will assure him that the Zephyr's a good train, too. It's going to hurt them both.

For almost four years these rival conductors of the rival trains between Chicago, Minneapolis, and St. Paul have been arguing the merits of their trains. But today is the fourth birthday of the steam powered Hiawatha. And Conductor Mathers will ride on it as Conductor Haddock's guest after a birthday party in the Hiawatha's diner at the Union station.

LIGGETT WIDOW WINS 2D LIBEL SUIT FROM REDS

Awarded $2,500 Verdict in New York Court.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Walter Liggett, widow of Walter W. Liggett, militant Minneapolis editor who was shot to death in 1935 after an unrelenting fight against political-criminal alliances, won a verdict of $2,500 damages last week against a ranking communist interest in New York.

The verdict, returned by a jury in Kings county Supreme court in Brooklyn before Judge Philip A. Brennan, was directed against the Comprodaily Publishing company of New York, publisher of the communist mouthpiece, the Daily Worker, and against Clarence A. Hathaway, editor of the communist paper.

Husband Slain in 1935.

The $2,500 award covered compensatory and punitive damages. Mrs. Liggett's action was a retrial of her suit a year ago in which she obtained a $25.000 verdict in another division of Brooklyn Supreme court. In that case, in which no jury was impaneled, Justice Meier Steinbrink, handed up a $25,000 verdict against the communist defendants.

Walter Liggett, who was editor of the Midwest American, crusading paper in Minneapolis, was shot down by gangster machine gunners in an ambuscade in an alley behind his home in December, 1935. His murder came at a time when Liggett was reported to be preparing to publish smashing revelations of alliances between politicians and criminals that threatened to reach high into Minnesota political circles. His wife and one of their two children narrowly missed being shot.

Makes Charge of Libel.

The $25,000 verdict was awarded to Mrs. Liggett on May 7, 1938, against the same defendants named in the $2,500 verdict, and also including Hyman Colodny, business manager of the Daily Worker. In subsequent litigation, the verdict was vacated against all defendants except Colodny and a retrial in Supreme court was ordered for them on technical legal grounds. The $25,000 verdict still stands against Colodny.

Mrs. Liggett's suit was based on references the Daily Worker published about her after she made efforts to obtain funds by writing articles concerning the murder of her husband. It was charged that the series of Daily Worker stories involved in the suit contained libelous mention of "the widow of the slain publisher selling the corpse limb by limb to the highest bidder of the Minnesota Republican party."

In commenting on the jury award, at the termination of the second trial, Judge Brennan commended the finding in Mrs. Liggett's favor, but clearly indicated his belief that on the basis of testimony a verdict in larger amount should have been returned.

"If you had made a motion to set it aside," he told Mrs. Liggett's counsel, "I would, because I consider it inadequate. It was an outrageous, vile, and cowardly libel, and they [the defendants] should have paid for it properly; an outrageous thing . . . but I will let it stand."

Turning his remarks to the jury, Judge Brennan said: "I am glad at any rate that you had a chance to see what sort of stuff, falsehood, is poured out in papers like the Daily Worker, without a particle of truth, without any justification at all."

RUSSIA OPENS DRIVE AGAINST FARM CHEATERS

Restricts Size of Private Garden Plots.

MOSCOW, May 28.—(AP)—A drastic decree aimed at "counterfeit collective farmers" was issued today by Dictator Josef Stalin and Premier Vyacheslav Molotov to restrict rigidly the size of private garden plots.

Vyacheslav Molotov.

Unscrupulous collective farm members, the decree said, have been resorting to trickery to increase the size of their individual plots. Some have devoted their whole time cultivating their own ground to the neglect of collective farm community interests, it said. The result, it charged, has been an artificial labor shortage.

Soviet Russia's labor discipline drive, which has increased industrial production, previously had been extended to agriculture through specific time schedules for farm workers, rewards for industrious workers, and penalties for shirkers.

Will Punish Officials.

Some workers, however, were accused by the decree of having been able to grab so much additional land that they have begun selling or leasing it.

The new edict made such a practice a crime against the state and provided for punishment of collective farm chairmen and other responsible officials.

It ordered careful measurement of all household garden plots and demanded that wherever they exceed the legal limit—varying from about half an acre in fertile areas to two and one-half acres in arid sections—the surplus land be added to the collective fields.

Henceforth, also, collective farmers may work for themselves only after working for the community.

Surplus Workers Must Migrate.

If this should lead to a surplus of working members, the decree provided, each collective farm must consider migration of its extra workers to far eastern, Siberian, or other areas.

The order also reduced the size of plots which individual peasants—not collective farmers—may hold. Such farms, however, already virtually have disappeared.

Although all horses, agricultural machinery, and field crops are community property on the collectives, each member is privileged to keep his own cow, chickens, and garden "when permitted by the chairman." Punishments for laxity in the communal farming range from warnings to expulsion. Among the rewards for good work is preference in permission to use the collective's equipment for one's private garden.

QUINTS BOAST OF THEIR 'NEW AGE' ON 5TH BIRTHDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 28.—Rain, which prevented outside exhibition of the Dionne quintuplets and disappointed tourists, failed to dampen the happy birthday spirits of the little girls, who were 5 years old today.

At a Dionne family day, with only one other guest, the Rev. Victor Pilon, the Corbeil priest, present, the children boasted about their "new age" as they call it. They were chic as Parisiennes in colored silk party frocks, Marie in yellow, Yvonne in mauve, Emilie in pink, Cecile in blue, and Annette in green.

Excited over their "tallness," as well as their age, Yvonne and the other quints stood alongside Pauline, their not quite 6 year old sister, to show mama and papa that the tops of their heads almost came up to the top of Pauline's. The father and mother gave each quint five birthday kisses and dolls that had dimples in their cheeks and two more dimples on each knee. The dolls had brown eyes that open and shut like baby brother Victor's.

Cross Mountains in Lead Engine of Special.

BEAVERMOUTH, B. C., May 28.—[Canadian Press]—King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain left their private car today for a ride in the cab of a giant mountain locomotive.

Here their majesties, gloveless, climbed into the cab of the lead engine of the "triple-header" required to pull their twelve car special over the mountains to Stony Creek, 13 miles west.

With them in the cab were W. M. Neal, vice president of the Western Canadian Pacific railway, Engineer Jock Rutherford and Fireman Stan Lea.

Rutherford and Lea expressed surprise at the king's mechanical knowledge, and admiration of the queen.

"I though I would feel a bit uneasy," Lea said, "but she was so gracious and genuine. She hadn't been in the cab a minute when she smiled—and then I felt right at home again. It was the thrill of a lifetime for Jock and me."

On Way to Vancouver.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON BOARD ROYAL PILOT TRAIN, May 28.—King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain crossed the great divide of the Rocky mountains today and prepared to enter upon a strenuous three days' program on the Pacific coast.

Seattle and other American cities are expected to add to the crowds at Vancouver and Victoria. Even Honolulu is sending a delegation to greet the royal couple. The royal party arrives in Vancouver tomorrow morning.

The Banff "rest period" for the king and queen provided a different kind of activity, but hardly any rest. Today the king and queen left the Banff Springs hotel for church service in town, worshiping at St. George's Church of England in Canada.

Servants Say Farewell.

At the door of the hotel a scene almost medieval in character was enacted. The 300 servants of the hotel were lined up on the walks. Waitresses in wine red uniforms, the bell boys in blue, the cooks in white, with a sprinkling of guides in red checked shirts made a motley assembly. They cheered as the king and queen stepped into their car. It cost the hotel about $15,000 to get ready for this royal visit.

After church the king and queen entered their car again and drove through the mountains to Lake Louise where they boarded their train. The king was fifteen minutes late in starting on this journey and the correspondents following him reached the station at Banff to find that their pilot train had left. A fifty mile drive over the divide through Kicking Horse pass ensued and the train was finally caught at Field.

Danger of Earth Slides.

It is this section of the tour which is giving railroad men the most worry as slides of earth are common at this time of the year. At every cross road and bend a policeman was stationed and the track was carefully guarded at all danger points.

PRESIDENT BOWS HEAD AS PASTOR VOICES REBUKE

Hyde Park, N. Y., May 28.—[Special.]—With bowed head President Roosevelt listened to a lecture today from his pastor, the Rev. H. E. Wilson of ivy clad St. James' Episcopal church. The minister at the morning service rebuked his congregation for not showing a proper degree of interest in the church, foreign missions, and sending children to Sunday school. The President shared in the rebuke not only as a member of the congregation, but also as senior warden of the church.

The Rev. Wilson warned his flock to obtain tickets for the services to be held June 11 when King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain will visit the church. He pointed out that the church seats but 200 persons, and that eighty seats will be taken by the parties of the President and the king.

Tickets will be necessary to get into the church grounds, where the President's father is buried, and into the church itself for the royal services. Bishop Henry St. George Tucker, president of the Council of Protestant Episcopal churches, will conduct the services.

The President is suffering from a slight head cold.

Government expenditures for public works and what-not give men jobs—temporarily. But when a project is finished it becomes expensive overhead. This overhead, unless self-liquidating, must be paid for out of increased taxes and more borrowings.

Government spending does not, therefore, create a wealth-producing activity which, of itself, provides for a continuous employment of men and women. It is far different when the spending is done by private enterprise. By creating a demand for its products, a private undertaking provides, in itself, for employment year after year.

The amount spent by the government for pump-priming each year since 1930 equals the amount which went into the expansion of old industries and the development of new ones — each year from 1900 to 1930. That is the principal reason why we still have an unemployment problem!

SPEND to create jobs? Spend to bring back prosperity? You bet—the more the better!

But which kind of spending does the trick? Spending by government—or spending by business?

Take your own town for example. Which of these two kinds of spending would do it the most good:

Money spent for a government project, desirable as it may seem to be—or money spent for a new factory? For a new public golf course—or for a new department store?

Government spending creates jobs, yes—but only temporary jobs. When the new project is finished—up goes the "NO HELP WANTED" sign.

But when the new factory or the new store is completed—that's only the beginning. Up goes the sign "HELP WANTED"—permanent jobs for people who will spend their pay checks for homes, for food, for furnishings, for autos, for insurance—making more jobs somewhere else for still more people.

Not only that, we get more new enterprises to share the tax burden business must bear.

So you see, government spending may make the bells ring—but it's business spending that makes the whistles blow—whistles calling men to steady work.

A man with an idea and a man with a dollar to invest run big risks at any time in the business world. Yet, when those risks seem reasonable, we have prosperity.

But today, storm signals* are keeping ideas and money idle—"frozen" by warnings of burdensome taxes, handcuff legislation, government competition, political restrictions on dollars-at-work, and even concern for the nation's very solvency.

So what? Just this:

Tell your Congressman and Senator you want to see the brakes released on business enterprise.

America needs less taxes and more jobs.

THE VERDICT.

Comment on the President's speech to the retailers has been overwhelmingly unfavorable. Mr. Roosevelt was never more artful in his special pleading than he was on the evening of May 22. His pitching arm was as good as ever and he was tossing all the old foolers, but they didn't fool. It begins to look as if the batters have his number at last.

This is particularly gratifying to THE TRIBUNE because there was a time when we stood almost alone in expressing disbelief in his purposes and policies. Mr. Roosevelt's record at last has caught up with him. The country is on to his rhetorical tricks. The panacea of spending has proved a failure and everybody now knows it. When he advocates more spending he is advertising his destructive stubbornness and his intellectual bankruptcy.

A few editors here and there refuse to ask themselves why, if spending is the cure-all which Mr. Roosevelt says it is, the remedy has so conspicuously failed to achieve the expected result. The Louisville Courier-Journal is among this few. It continues to accept the President as infallible. It is recalled that the former publisher of that paper was rewarded by Mr. Roosevelt with the London embassy. The New York Post likewise remains awe-struck in the presence of Mr. Roosevelt's economic statesmanship. The Springfield Republican is gratified to discover academic support for Mr. Roosevelt's views in the recent testimony of Prof. Alvin Hansen of Harvard.

But these views are exceptional. The New York Times, which supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1936, now quotes Mr. Roosevelt [1932] against Mr. Roosevelt [1939]. Other Democratic newspapers, including the southern ones, are at least as far off the reservation. The Richmond News Leader observes somewhat waspishly that "economics are not the President's strongest subject. He seldom presents a fiscal argument which practical minds, like that of Senator Byrd, cannot riddle." The Dallas News says that the President's doctrine of "government spending to achieve prosperity is an utter fallacy. . . . He neglected to explain what will be left with which the future can balance the budget."

And so the chorus goes. The Cleveland Plain Dealer wonders what has become of the appeasement policy heralded by Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Morgenthau only a few months ago. The Minneapolis Tribune speaks of the "bankruptcy of Mr. Roosevelt's leadership," and suggests that "one might reply to the President . . . that the real gamblers are those who squander the substance of a nation in the hope that all history will reverse itself. . . . He has nothing better to offer the country than the compounding of an utterly bad fiscal situation."

The Christian Science Monitor thinks the President "unfortunately never has really explored the possibilities of gaining business cooperation." The Philadelphia Bulletin says "he has endorsed without qualification a set of policies which have, over a period of six years, failed to solve the major problems with which he was faced when he entered office."

The thought is carried a step farther by the Indianapolis News which observes that Mr. Roosevelt for six years has been given all the money he wanted to spend, yet, "according to his own statement, he still has the problem of better diet, better housing, and better clothing on his hands, and the number of jobless people is about the same as it was when he started his recovery plan six years ago." The New Haven Register foresees that a continuation of the spending policy will produce "more of the same failure." "All Mr. Roosevelt has to offer," says the Detroit Free Press, "is a new dose of the old nostrum."

The Kansas City Star doubts that retail merchants are "suckers enough to be taken in by the President's unsound doctrine." The Baltimore Sun says the spending policy from the first "had a terrifying effect, not merely upon the bankers and big industrialists whom Mr. Roosevelt delights to revile but upon the hundreds of thousands and perhaps millions of small investors whose savings in the aggregate provide the capital without which the industrial machine cannot be kept in running order and without which no real industrial progress is possible."

The Omaha World-Herald, another newspaper which at one time supported the President, finds he is a stand-patter because his administration has "the quality of rigidity, the quality of blind resistance to change, the quality of relentless adherence to a formula no matter how conclusively the formula is shown to be wrong."

And so it goes. The verdict against the President is an overwhelming one. Of the first fifty newspapers, selected at random, whose comment was examined, four were able to indorse the speech more or less warmly and forty-six tore it to pieces.

THE GENTLEMAN FROM NEANDERTHAL.

Jack Dempsey testified the other day before a senatorial committee in support of the Barbour bill. This is the bill to permit interstate commerce in prize fight films. Jack said the present law, prohibiting such trafic, had cost him a couple of millon dollars in royalties. He wasn't sore about it; he stated it just as a fact deserving of consideration.

The most distinguished Neanderthaler of our era was puzzled about the law and we don't blame him. The act which prohibits the transportation of fight films across state boundaries was put on the books twenty-seven years ago. The excuse was that professional boxing was then prohibited in a good many states and it was argued that people shouldn't be permitted to see in the movie theaters what they were forbidden to view in the flesh. That was the excuse. The real reason was that a great many congressmen, and particularly southern congressmen, did not believe that Jack Johnson could knock out white opponents in a fair fight and didn't wish to have to examine the evidence.

Nobody ever paid much attention to the law. Almost from the start the fight films were bootlegged across state lines and they have been shown wherever people wanted to see them, which is everywhere. Few states now prohibit prize fighting. The fight film law was just another of the many moralistic enactments which didn't work because public opinion wouldn't stand for it.

AN ACCIDENT IN PUTNEY.

Two Londoners have been allowed to retire from what would have been the public gaze. One is the chauffeur of Queen Mary's car and the other the driver of the truck which hit the car and knocked it over. They are probably the two most shocked inhabitants of Britain today. Apparently they were forgiven but their names were withheld and they were immediately withdrawn from the uneasy distinction of having put the queen in a predicament which required the services of a house painter and his "pair of steps."

British democracy might make something of the fact that there could be such a trafic accident, but democracy can be carried too far. Although happily the incident was without serious consequences it was nevertheless one which really couldn't happen. Such things are not done. People do not do them. Trucks do not knock the royal cars over. That would be making the world too safe for democracy.

The English are not the only people who are glad that the queen and her companions in the car escaped injury in the Putney accident. The feeling is sincere although it may not generally be as deep and poignant as that expressed in the editorial reprinted as today's editorial of the day. Times Square seems almost closer than Fleet street to Marlborough house. Our Atlantic seaboard is peculiarly sympatico. The best New Yorkers regard themselves as lower class Englishmen and the others are not supposed to count.

THE STATE PENSION BILL.

A Republican member correctly described the bill establishing a state pension system as a come-on measure when it was passed Tuesday by the lower house of the legislature. The initial appropriation was cut from $2,000,000 to $250,000 to make the bill more palatable. When Representative Leroy Green said that the next legislature will have to make a deficiency appropriation to meet the cost for the first two years of operation, and that costs will increase steadily thereafter, he was backed to the limit by experience with existing public pension plans.

Backers of the bill urged that state employés are now the only public employés in Illinois without a pension plan. They failed to establish, however, that the present group of employés deserves pensions. A public pension plan should rest on a civil service system that selects employés for competence and thereafter protects their tenure during good behavior.

Illinois civil service now is a joke. It is filled with incompetent jobholders appointed for political reasons. The competent employés have no guarantee that they will be around long enough to earn a pension, and the political pay rollers don't deserve one. Pensions should wait for the establishment of a decent state civil service.

QUEEN MARY.

[New York Times.]

To be capsized in an automobile when you are of the age of 72 may be thought to indicate a cruel malice of fate. Queen Mary's escape without serious injury will add a new warmth to the sincere and spontaneous congratulations that will be showered upon her on her anniversary next Friday. Her composure, courage, and dignity have never failed her. She has gone through great crises. She has had a deep experience of suffering and sorrow. To her late husband, to her children, her grandchildren, and, most of all, her people she has been a symbol of kindliness, a disciplined, strong, and patient character.

She was equal to all her multiform duties as queen. As queen mother, if her daily round is shorter, she still plays her part quietly and beneficently. As Princess May of Teck she learned in an unthrifty household economy and management. She has been unfailing in her charities. While she has always kept the official etiquet carefully, she is noted for her ease and democratic friendliness with common folk. Wherever she goes she seems to be as popular as Victoria was.

In some respects she is "Victorian." That may remind us again with what supercilliousness that adjective was so often misapplied a few years ago. Whether at some occasion of state or saying nice things to a tennis champion and beaten opponent, Queen Mary always does and says the right thing. In this country she has won the respect and admiration deserved by her high qualities and sympathy with her trials. We wish for her immunity from accident and many happy birthday anniversaries.

FLORIDA CANAL CASE.

[Indianapolis News.]

Forty-five senators stopped the spending of $200,000,000 on the Florida ship canal because they were convinced that the canal is not needed. The administration demanded the money, and thirty-six senators voted to spend it.

The scheme was defeated under the leadership of Senator Vandenberg, Republican, of Michigan, who became convinced two years ago that the canal plan had no merit and fought the spending with singular will and concentration. The victory last week was his second in this fight.

While Senator Vandenberg claims no special credit for his achievement, his methods deserve special attention. He proceeded on the common sense theory that the way to economize is to quit spending money for what is not needed. All his battle was centered on proving that the Florida ship canal would not be worth what the country would have to pay for it.

There are many items in the federal spending program that have no more merit than the Florida canal. If the conservative groups in both houses will recruit more members who are willing to burn the midnight oil in preparing themselves to stand off the spenders, many of these money-wasting schemes can be knocked out of the budget. The canal experience shows that it can be done.

THE TORTURE CHAMBER.

How would you like to take the examinations for the civil service in England? [Nice, well paid work if you can get it.] Here are certain questions from the tests in English:

"The following passage, taken from 'The Mechanism of Nature,' by E. N. da C. Andrade, contains about 1,400 words. Make a précis of it in not more than 400 words."

"Express in your own words and your own way the thought contained in Matthew Arnold's poem, 'Morality.'"

"Compose an ode to a dictator."

"Give particulars of unemployment in the Special Areas."

All this is for pukka sahibs. Here is a question in the examination for clerical assistants, grade 1:

"Correct the following sentence: Of course, she didn't ought to have done it. And between you and I she is the very last person in the world whom I thought would have done such a thing."

MOTHER'S MELODEON.

Today you stand demure in rosewood dress,
Much scarred by years but dignified, serene.
In "Sixty-one" your tones were a caress
To her young voice, a carefree girl sixteen.
Recruiting meetings knew your "Tramp! Tramp! Tramp!"
Those hero making, marching tunes, and boys
Were by your music lured to leave for camp
Where cannon drowned your echoes with their noise.
Those weary hearts knew not the dawn of peace
Proclaimed by you, but dews and damps of war,
And agony. They prayed that it would cease

Legacies of the Little Giant.

Woodland and Groveland parks [May 16] were planned, and in part created, by Stephen A. Douglas a short time before his death in 1861. His home was in the southeast corner of Woodland park a few rods from the place where he is buried.

Many of the residences were built shortly after the civil war. The house numbered 660 in the northeast corner of Woodland, facing the lake, is of grey-green sandstone with walls nearly two and a half feet thick. A painting of this one time famous mansion hangs in the Art institute.

Most of the families have lived there at least a decade and a half, while some have enjoyed the decorous friendliness of the parks for fifty years. . . . Amidst the hurly burly of street cars, the stench of a bus garage, and the rush of the Illinois Central, Woodland park is quietly enjoying a new thrill—after seventy years of dirt and gravel it is now the proud owner of an honest to goodness paved road. ### When "Trilby" Was in Fashion.

In the summer of 1895 "Trilby" was given at the Schiller theater [now the Garrick], with Wilton Lackaye as Svengali; Herbert Carr, Charles Canfield, and S. Miller Kent as Taffy, and Laird and Little Billee; and Edith Crane as Trilby. During the same summer at the Columbia [now the Monroe movie] the New York Casino company was giving "The Merry World" and a burlesque of "Trilby" was put on with Dan Daly as Taffy, David Warfield as the Laird, Louis Mann as Svengali, Lee Harrison as Gecko, and Amelia Summerville as Trilby. The writer saw both shows at a cost of 25 cents each, sitting in the gallery. We young fellows got our money's worth then. Earl Parcells.

The Seven Side Show Sisters.

Perhaps you would like to know what has become of the Seven Sutherland Sisters, whose luxuriant tresses helped to sell hair tonic in the Barnum & Bailey side shows of long ago. Well, the sixth to die, Mary, passed away on May 12, aged 75, in Buffalo, N. Y. The only survivor is named Grace. They were related to the Bailey of the circus firm.

A firm named Small & Horsey sells hardware and furniture in Laurel, Del. The boss is named Charlie Horsey. Honest!

BANISHING BACTERIA FROM THE URINARY TRACT.

FEW remedies of modern times have proved more serviceable than mandelic acid. Although the first suggestion that it might be valuable in infections along the urinary tract was made more than fifty years ago, its practical application is of recent date.

Observing that diets rich in fat were helpful in destroying bacteria found in the urine, the search was made for a similar chemical [acid] which would not be altered by digestion, but would be discharged intact with the excreted fluid. Further experiments led to the revelation that mandelic acid was positive death to certain types of invaders. In order that it might exert its full effect it was found desirable to neutralize alkaline elements within the body, as many organisms cannot live outside this environment. Deprived of such surroundings they are about as helpless as one of us would be were the supply of oxygen cut off completely.

Thus it is that cystitis—irritation within the bladder—may be improved by changing the reaction of the urine to the acid side by the employment of sodium benzoate. But mandelic acid is far more efficient. Colon bacilli—common inhabitants of the urinary pouch—are exterminated easily—provided, of course, that the renal excretion is maintained in an extremely acid state. This is the reason that patients utilizing the drug are cautioned not to eat oranges, lemons, or grapefruit, as the alkali furnished by these foods would in turn need to be counteracted.

Now and then microbes find their way into the collecting spaces within the kidneys [pyelo-nephritis]. Here they may set up enough inflammation—through the establishment of growing colonies—that temperature, chills, and general malaise will ensue. It is important, therefore, to get rid of the microorganisms as quickly as possible and mandelate supplies one of our best weapons. Particularly, every child who complains of fever should have the benefit of a search for pus in the urine. If, in addition, there is pain in the back and low in the abdomen, with frequent, spasmodic contractions of the bladder, we have a right to suspect the presence of pus somewhere between the kidneys and the external outlet. At the outset the thermometer reading may show a high level. In some cases it will remain so—between 104 and 105 degrees Fahrenheit at intervals—gradually settling down to a steady 100 to 101 degrees after a week.

After treatment with mandelic acid for five or six days the urine becomes clear, although it may be wise to continue the drug for nine or ten days. The relief afforded may be described as spectacular.

A report by Dodson and Oden lists forty-two cases of infection within the kidneys for most of which the colon germ was responsible. All but three responded promptly to this plan. The failures were attributed to the fact that the urine in these patients was too alkaline.

It has been learned that most individuals can take the medicine without the slightest difficulty. While the taste is objectionable to a few—occasionally causing nausea—small and more frequent doses may be utilized without discomfort. The newer salts are even more palatable and the calcium preparation may be obtained in either powder or tablet form so that the full daily quota—twelve grams for an adult—may be swallowed without a gastric upset. Under prolonged administration mild irritation may be induced but, as a rule, this is of little significance as stopping the compound for a day or two will banish all symptoms.

By and large, we may look upon this relatively new substance as providing a ready solution for a high percentage of our kidney and bladder infections. Should streptococci be found, recourse to sulfanilamide may be demanded and it is not unusual to follow one drug with the other.

DESCRIBES THE "STARRY-EYED."

Chicago, May 25.—Recently in looking through a little German book by Carmen Sylva, published in 1890, I came across a sentence which admirably describes our starry-eyed Washington brain trusters. It reads:

"Political theorists are like people who do not know the multiplication table but try to do geometrical problems." X. Y. Z.

TAX SLAVE WANTS TO KNOW.

Chicago, May 25.—A few nights ago my wife insisted that I attend a parent-teacher association meeting, there to hear an eminent professor hold forth on the international problems. But the principal business of the evening proved to be a talk by an expensively dressed teacher urging us to sign a petition about to be passed around which petition called upon the legislature to provide more benefits for teachers. The women took time off from looking at each other's hats long enough to sign, but without knowing what it was they signed for. The men signed because they were afraid of their wives and also because little junior would get bad marks if they didn't.

Is the P.-T. A. no longer for the benefit of the children, or is it merely a lobbying tool for the gimme girls of an already overpampered profession?

THE DOG NUISANCE.

Chicago, May 24.—May I please come in for a moment and thank all those responsible for their part in making people dog conscious? In our jolly little community of closely built apartment buildings there now appear to be more dogs than people. And the dogs are so happy!

Yesterday I saw a woman galloping down our street with three dogs on leashes—mighty intelligent looking, too—the dogs, I mean.

We spend millions on elaborate sewage disposal systems for humans and then we blithely allow the dogs the use of lawns and sidewalks. We Americans are such a frivolous people.

AUDREY DE WOODY.

PENNY LUNCHES.

Chicago, May 23.—I am speaking in regard to the penny lunchrooms. Why is it when they send investigators they always start with the people that work for the smallest salaries?

We have a lunchroom in our school that a lot of poor children attend. An investigator or improver was sent here and the first thing she found fault with was that the head attendant was too easy with the children because she fed a few hungry children for nothing.

Then this investigator had nerve enough to order a salad and never offered to pay for it. READER.

A FANTASTIC INQUIRY.

Chicago, May 25.—I wonder if the organized school teachers and other civil service employés would advise every one who received a cut in salary to sue their employers for the amount of reduction?

Sounds fantastic, but then a lot of things our "public servants" do are so difficult for the common peepul to understand. DISGUSTED.

THE PHONE CALL.

Rockford, Ill., May 23.—I remember the thrill, the scare, and especially the laughter of grandmother in later years as she recalled the event as follows: We were over to a neighbor's; the phone was ringing its head off. Mrs. L., sick in bed, requested us to take the call. Grandmother balked. Having watched people use phones, I thought I could "work it." The bell kept ringing. Mrs. L. kept insisting; it seemed to be up to somebody to do something, and I, being crazy to try it, grandmother pushed a chair up to the phone. I got up and removed the receiver, cautiously placing it to my ear. Mingled with much crackling and snapping [I probably expected it to blow up or burst into flames any minute] came a jumbled voice inquiring if Mr. L. was at home. Stretching myself up to the mouthpiece, I yelled "No!", slapped the receiver back on the hook, got down and away from the thing as quickly as possible, and hurried home to tell mother I had just been talking over Mrs. L.'s telephone.

SAFETY STICKER ARRESTS.

Chicago, May 24.—On May 16 I read in THE TRIBUNE that the deadline for motorists to obtain safety stickers had been extended to June 1. On two different occasions, as I waited in line for the test, I was told by one of the workers there that I had a long wait and that I could come some other time before June 1, as the time had been extended.

On May 18 I received a ticket for not having a sticker. Next day I had my car inspected and sent in my receipt to the Municipal court asking the court clerk to cancel the ticket. I received a reply stating that unless I paid the $2 fine there would be a warant issued. I paid the fine.

Saturday THE TRIBUNE again had a notice on the front page. "Deadline for Auto Safety Tests Extended to July 30." I believe THE TRIBUNE ought to warn the motorists that they're liable to get a ticket instead of letting them get trapped like I did. JOSEPH BIALAS.

IN THE TREASURER'S OFFICE.

Chicago, May 25.—My work makes it necessary for me to go to the county treasurer's office almost daily. I think the employés of that office deserve a pat on the back for their patience and all around good work. These are trying days in that office and the "boys" are "on the job."

MAXIMILIAN E. HUHNKE.

ONE DELINQUENT'S WOES.

Chicago, May 25.—I often wonder why THE TRIBUNE only tells part of the news. For instance: "The WPA tears down 700 old buildings free of charge. The owners could afford to pay for the service." Now listen:

Three generations of mine saved $15,000 and invested it in a two flat. Taxes were paid in full; both flats became vacant. Vandals stole all the plumbing, etc. It would take $1,000 to repair the damages. A total loss, the WPA tore the building down.

Now the politicians say to delinquent taxpayers, like myself: "How can we pay the police department and other city employés if you don't pay your taxes?"

For years I paid a fraudulent tax on the property, $125 a year. But I did not get what I paid for; that is, police protection. A DELINQUENT TAXPAYER.

EIGHT-TENTHS OF A MILL.

Chicago, May 24.—As a teacher I wish to thank you for the fair and clear statement about school affairs printed on the second page of Monday morning's TRIBUNE.

Also, please make a correction in a prominent place to reassure the taxpayers as to our requirements for pension aid. The present levy for our pension is .8 of a mill. Not .08 of a cent. Also we are asking 18 mills, not 1.8 cents, for our future [immediate] needs.

By the time the assessment is spread and collected it would be 1941.

M. A. LEARY.

IN THE JUDICIAL CAMPAIGN.

Chicago, May 23.—I write to express my warm appreciation and that of my associates in the Chicago Bar association for the strong editorial in THE TRIBUNE of yesterday morning commending the indorsement of candidates for judges by the Chicago Bar association to the voters. I know that this will be influential in the election.

Thanking you again for your valuable coöperation in our effort to raise the standards of judicial personnel.

HENRY P. CHANDLER.
President.

ROUTE INFORMATION.

Chicago, May 26.—Today I called the Chicago Motor club and asked if they would kindly tell me the best route to Indianapolis. I was asked for my membership card number. I informed the girl that I wasn't sure my husband was a member. At once she very curtly informed me that I could get no information otherwise. I then called the Illinois Motor club and asked the same. Here I was carefully and courteously given details, with no questions asked.

MRS. D. M.

Elusive Feeling Put Into Brahms 4th Symphony

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Conductor Izler Solomon and the Illinois Symphony orchestra succeeded in putting the elusive feeling content of the Brahms Fourth Symphony before yesterday's Great Northern theater audience.

They did considerably more than simply present the piece in all its granite, four square dignity. For one thing, every surface was worked on lovingly to achieve the subdued splendor of color which is necessary if the symphony's full communicative powers are to be utilized. For another, they dealt so competently with rhythmic detail that you hardly realized at the time that it was rhythmic detail. These subtle effects of pace and accent became merely one of the means by which the music's terrific urgency of feeling was enabled to leap the footlights and to destroy audience reserve.

That was a finely subdued glow which the strings achieved in both statements of the slow movement's subsidiary theme. And in the passacaglia the brasses spoke in so apocalyptic a fashion that one could believe that the west was indeed reddening and that all wars were done.

Preceding the symphony came a performance of the Brahms violin concerto with Fritz Siegal, concertmeister of the orchestra, playing the solo part. He grasped and ably projected the nobility of the first movement, the candid, songful quality of the second, and the great exhilaration of the last.

Another youthful violinist of extraordinary talent appeared in the Auditorium recital hall in the evening. His name is Arthur Tabachnick, and his playing of the Vitali chaconne, at the very beginning of his program, established him as a competent, confident performer.

Tone was large and noble, and preserved its texture admirably even in a very loud passage. The massive rhythms of the piece were handled in a most majestic manner. The net result of all this was complete success in retaining the air of huge importance of the chaconne.

A hearing of some of the D'Ambrosio B minor concerto a little later in the evening confirmed the good impression that had already been made. In this gentler music were countless chances for Mr. Tabachnick to demonstrate his delicacy of perception and his technical ability. The line between the two became obscured, and nuances of feeling seemed to be reflected directly in the nuances of the music. This is pretty nigh art, in case any one should ever ask you.

An important share of the credit for the violinist's success goes to Herbert Inskip, pianist of the evening. The dignity of his style, plus his ability to see where Mr. Tanachnick is going before he even starts there, made him an admirable type of co-worker.

Fare of quite another sort was offered in the same hall in the afternoon, when Bobbie Christian's rhythm program filled the little stage with marimba, vibra-harp, piano, and a profusion of drums and gongs. These instruments took one skilled licking after another as a diverting program of popular tunes and original compositions charged along.

Assisting Mr. Christian were José Bethancourt, an authority on the rhumba; Bob Acri, an expert in the calm, slinky, rhythmic type of piano playing, and a male quartet.

The African and Cuban sources of much of our popular music were entertainingly revealed. That grasp of the delicate and possibilities of rhythm—a grasp which is definitely not a birthright of northern Europe and the nations stemming therefrom—has, obviously, become a part of twentieth century American music only because of the nearness of the West Indies and the increasing articulateness of our own Negro population.

ACHIEVES RARE PIANO TONE

BY CECIL SMITH.

Anita Olefsky, the young pianist who played in Curtiss hall yesterday afternoon, greatly pleased her audience by the singing, legato tone she is able to produce. Not many young pianists give as arresting evidence that they are actually listening to the instrument. Miss Olefsky apparently delights in an unforced, liquid tone quality. In the process of developing this tone she has learned to play in an unusually even, limpid scale.

Her playing was best, naturally, in works calling for lyric flow and gracious phrasing. She is spontaneously musical, and both feels and communicates the rise and fall as well as the continuity of a phrase.

At present her playing lacks fire, when fire is called for. It has very little purely percussive brilliance, though she can bring forward an admirably clean staccato, as Infante's "Danse Gitane" showed. If only she can bring a little more bigness to the expansive moments of her music, and a sense of bravado to display passages, Miss Olefsky ought to become an extremely good pianist.

In Kimball hall Zerline Muhlman Metzger completed her ambitious project of a series of student performances of Wagner's "Ring" by presenting "The Twilight of the Gods." The performance was not without its illusion, despite the small stage and cramped quarters. Mrs. Metzger's student singers—the Flosshilde was only 16 and three others were 17!—acquitted themselves better than might have been expected, showing themselves to be conversant with many traditions of Wagnerian style and acting.

The Accent Is on Charm

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Every line of this simple summer dress is designed to put the accent on charm. It's the type of frock that looks well on many types of figures, and makes up beautifully in a variety of inexpensive and washable materials.

There are at least two ways to style it. At the left is a sketch illustrating how lovely the model is with a shirtwaist collar and twin pockets on the skirt. Striped materials lend a long and flattering line of themselves.

At the right is a design with more femininity to it. The neckline is square and given lace trimming through which ribbon beading is run. More of the same treatment is given to the short puffed sleeves. The pockets are omitted. Plain colors and floral prints are highly acceptable for this version.

Style No. 2777 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Wedding Veils Are Treasures of Great Beauty

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Romance ahead! With June weddings filling every day in the month, the all-important buys are wedding veils that are new and unusual. Illusion as fascinating as it sounds is used in drifts of white, pale pink and a pale blue tint. It's the thinnest, most flattering stuff you can find.

You'll wear it primly plaited and falling down below the waistline with full skirted gowns of all materials. You fasten it to the curls with a wreath of either artificial or real orange blossoms or rosebuds.

Tulle is another arch flatterer. Gossamer lengths of tulle in bridal white will float half way down the aisle for the pageant weddings while shorter but just as effective lengths are used for less stately processions and gowns. A vapor thin veil of chiffon is another idea. These are especially lovely with chiffon or wedding gowns of handsome clinging crêpes. Chiffon veiling is so thin it is a mist of romantic white shadow over the headdress.

But the most beautiful veils are unquestionably the few treasured lengths of real lace. There are only a very few left for the buying, but they are exceptional because of the extremely low price and the fact that they are really heirlooms. Since lace makers have almost vanished, the few real lace veils are museum pieces. Two we found are enough to take your breath away—one of rare beauty with a deep border of point duchess and embroideries of point duchess scattered all over the entire cobweb thin background. Another is of almost priceless rose point. We'll run out of adjectives trying to describe it, it's so unusual. Both are probably the last available treasures of their kind.

Don't sniff at artificial flowers for your headdress. The delicate wax flowers are especially lovely with the old fashioned type of wedding gowns. Orange blossoms in either wax or the new pearly textured composition are delightfully fragile and decorative. A seed pearl headdress shaped like a Russian kacushnik is another beauty. Other beauties are the wreaths made of pearls, the poke bonnets, Dutch caps, and misty halos, all made to order to dramatize your headlines. And even the veils should be planned to accent the wedding gown.

Thomas Ambrose, 90 year old civil war veteran, alert and spry as a boy, quoted a little poem that expressed his philosophy of life when Frank Bering asked him how he kept so young. Mr. Ambrose was attending memorial services at Forest Home cemetery for the Columbia post of the Grand Army of the Republic, once the swank post of civil war veterans but existent now only in memory, for all its members are gone. Mr. Ambrose's philosophy:

Age is a state of mind
If you've left your dreams behind;
If hope is lost, if you no longer look ahead,
If your ambition's fires are dead—
Then you are old.

But if from life you hope the best

If love you hold—
No matter how the years go by,
You are not old.

Whirl Before June Weddings Fills Week-End

BY JUDITH CASS.

It seems that nearly every one who has not gone away for the long holiday week-end must be involved in giving or attending parties for some of the June brides. Dozens of luncheons, teas, and dances were arranged for over the week-end, enough to tire any one with more than one bride as a close friend.

There definitly were no parties this week-end, however, for Miss Gertrude Sieber and Henry A. Gardner Jr., who are to be married on June 7. Mr. Gardner is cramming for his examinations at the law school of Northwestern university, so the entertaining for him and his fiancée will not start until next week-end.

Next Saturday night Mr. Gardner's uncle and aunt, the William France Andersons, will entertain in their Hinsdale home. Next Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nye will give a cocktail party at home in Evanston, and on the following night Philip von Ammon will entertain at dinner at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernst C. von Ammon, in Winnetka. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sieber of the Orrington, Evanston, will give their daughter's bridal dinner June 6 at the Evanston Golf club.

Tell Gardner-Sieber Wedding Attendants.

The wedding is to take place at 4:30 o'clock in St. Luke's Episcopal pro-cathedral, Evanston, with a reception following at the Orrington. The Rev. Geraid G. Moore will read the service.

Mrs. Albert Early of Rockford will be Miss Sieber's matron of honor. The bridesmaids will include Mr. Gardner's subdebutante sister, Evelyn Gardner, a student at Dobbs Ferry; Mrs. Nye, Miss Jane Wheeler of River Forest; Miss Ann Louise Hankins of Shaker Heights, O., and Mrs. Henry Barber of Springfield.

Gifford Gardner, a student at Yale, will be his brother's best man. Ushering will be Robert and France Anderson, Robert Childs, Hamilton Reidy and Philip von Ammon. Mr. Gardner and his bride probably will live on the north shore. His sister, the former Marie Louise Gardner, and her husband, Frederick Gleim Jr., have settled in Highland Park.

Numerous Prenuptial Parties Next Week-End.

Enjoying a gay whirl next week-end will be Miss Ethel Dixon, Miss Kathrine McNulty, Miss Marion Farwell Barber, Miss Phoebe Massey, Miss Barbara Munn, their fiancés, and their attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Dixon gave a dinner at home in Lake Forest last night for Miss Dixon and Alexander Charles Fletcher, who are to be married on June 10, and for George W. Dixon Jr. and Miss Margaret Walker of Racine, Wis., who will be married later in the month.

Miss Dixon and Mr. Fletcher will take their wedding vows at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the John Timothy Stone chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church, with a wedding supper following in the apartment of Miss Dixon's uncle and aunt, the Paul Walkers, at 900 North Michigan avenue. The Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson, assisted by the Rev. John Timothy Stone, will officiate.

Miss Lucia Dixon and Mrs. Dixon Agar will attend their sister. Samuel Caldwell of Omaha will be the best man, and Homer L. Dixon Jr. will usher. Mr. Fletcher's parents, the Howard M. Fletchers, will arrive from Boston in time for a family party the Horace W. Armstrongs will give for their nephew and Miss Dixon on June 8. Miss Dixon will entertain at tea or supper for her old school friends June 7.

Dinner for Miss McNulty and Bouscaren Tonight.

Miss Nancy Otis is giving a dinner at home tonight for Miss McNulty and Henri V. Bouscaren, who are to be married on June 24. After dinner Miss Otis will take her guests to the Saddle and Cycle club for dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Welsh gave a buffet supper last night for Miss Barber and Grinnell Burke, who are to be married on June 10, and for Miss Munn and Dwight P. Green Jr., who are to be married or the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hall Barber have planned an outdoor picnic for their daughter and Mr. Burke next Sunday at the Barrington home, following the wedding rehearsal. The bride's uncle and aunt, the Philip Barbers, will give the bridal dinner at home in Glencoe on the eve of the ceremony. Mrs. Bowman Kreer is giving a luncheon at the Country Cousin in Barrington on Thursday. Mrs. Stanley T. Farwell and Mrs. Edward T. Farwell are planning a luncheon and shower for Miss Barber.

Miss Jane Parker gave a shower and tea on Saturday for Miss Massey, who will become George W. Ryerson's bride on June 24. Miss Carolyn Barrett entertained at cocktails yesterday for Miss Massey and Mr. Ryerson, and Miss Harriett Street has planned a gay Bavarian evening at her home in Winnetka tonight.

Helen Meyercord Weds Easterner on June 6.

The marriage of Miss Helen Meyercord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Meyercord, to Wesley Ewing Gwatkin of Berlin, Conn., will take place at 8:30 o'clock on June 6 at the Meyercord home. Miss Meyercord will be attended by Mrs. R. Jerome Dunn as matron of honor. George Meyercord Jr. will be best man.

Mr. Gwatkin and his bride will fly to New York, then motor through the east. They will make their home near Utica, N. Y.

Engagement Announced at Luncheon

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Mary Lou Nichols, whose engagement to Gregson Barker was announced at a luncheon at the South Shore Country club on Saturday.

Miss Mary Lou Nichols to Wed Gregson Barker

Romantic news of interest today was first made known at several parties over the week-end. At a luncheon Saturday at the South Shore Country club Mr. and Mrs. John M. Nichols of Chicago and Pasadena, Cal., announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Lou, to Gregson Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Barker of 11608 Longwood drive.

Mr. and Mrs. George Donnersberger of Highland Park gave a luncheon at the Exmoor Country club on Saturday to announce that their daughter, Georgia, will become the bride of Charles J. Cretors, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. De Witt Cretors of Chicago, in October.

At a tea at home in Winnetka yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lewis Hurlbutt announced the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Winifred, to George Dorr Wolf Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dorr Wolf of Glenview.

The marriage of Miss Nichols to Mr. Barker will take piace next fall. She attended Gulf Park college. Mr. Barker is engaged in business with his father.

Miss Donnersberger attended the Sacred Heart convent in Lake Forest and was graduated from Ferry Hall and from the Academy of Fine Arts in Evanston. She is a granddaughter of the late Joseph Donnersberger, early Chicagoan. Mr. Cretors is a graduate of Princeton university.

Most of the young people at the Hurlbutt party yesterday were surprised by the engagement announcement. Miss Hurlbutt was active with the Grey Ladies last winter. Mr. Wolf was graduated from Northwestern university in 1935. He is engaged in business in Chicago. The wedding will take place in the late summer or early fall.

From their home, Chelston, in Paget, Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Carbon P. Dubbs, formerly of Wilmette, have sent word of the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to Richard Everett Freisenbruch, son of Mrs. Henry Freisenbruch of Mount Vernon, Pembroke, Bermuda.

Miss Dubbs is a member of the graduating class of Dana Hall, in Wellesley, Mass. Her marriage to Mr. Freisenbruch will take place in July in Bermuda.

Mrs. William D. Beal of Delaware, O., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Helen, to Richard Lewis Woodward, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Woodward of 8108 South Green street.

Miss Beal was graduated from Cazenovia seminary in Cazenovia, N. Y., and from Ohio Wesleyan university in Delaware, and received her master's degree in journalism from Columbia university. In 1936 she was awarded a Pulitzer prize in journalism.

Mr. Woodward is a graduate of Washington university in St. Louis, Mo. The wedding will take place June 17 in Oxford, Md.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

They're Off at Hollywood

Hollywood, Cal., May 28.—A movie columnist, on the occasion of the opening of the Hollywood race track, rates the actors in race track lingo:

Cary Grant — Unlike Johnstown, this fellow can run in any sort of going, an honest performer.

Greer Garson—In first outing, this British filly surprised the clockers by turning in a record smashing performance, tab next outing.

Patricia Morrison—Best bet in Paramount barn. A streamlined cinch to give the stake horses a run for their money. She ran away from her fields in first two efforts.

John Wayne—This is the Republic "sleeper" that Director John Ford unveiled in "Stagecoach." If connections handle this big fellow well, there's no stopping him.

Fred Astaire—Returns to races with Eleanor Powell as an entry. Has plenty of early foot.

Wendy Hiller — Showed terrific change of pace in last. Watch closely next time out.

Robert Donat—Won in common gallop last two times at post. Can be depended upon when chips are down.

Nan Grey — This is Jockey Westrope's filly and she has been improving handily in every outing.

Spencer Tracy — Milwaukee flyer makes every post a winning one. He can be just as good as he needs to be, and is dead game.

Paul Muni—A photo finish with Tracy and Donat, impossible to split them out.

Francis Lederer—Czech colt finally has found himself on Hollywood sound tracks.

Fred MacMurray—Won "Invitation to Happiness" handicap in last, and looks like a consistent sort.

Alan Jones — Welshman will improve now that he's been claimed by Paramount stable as he was badly handled at M-G-M.

Mischa Auer—This Russian oat-burner never far from the leaders when they hit the wire.

Deanna Durbin—Hits the jackpot every time she goes to post. M-G-M discard biggest stake winner out here.

Carole Lombard — Salt Lake flyer now sporting Gable silks and everything O. K. at RKO.

Henry Fonda — Best all around entry in the Zanuck barn. Stole the "Jesse James handicap" and has been giving a good account of himself ever since.

Annabella—Hasn't been to the post since Tyrone Power claimed her.

John Garfield—Has made amazing strides since he was shipped out here. Will win at box office figures.

Laurence Olivier—Big Britisher led from wire to wire in first start, the "Wuthering Heights" gold cup. Cinch to repeat when he quits the Broadway track.

Charles Boyer—Even the girls who can't talk French know what he means when he parades past the grand stand with his broken English.

Bob Hope — Has faith and won't ever need charity.

Luise Rainer—Stewards ruled her off after she had twice won the Academy miracle mile. It doesn't make sense, but it happened.

Bette Davis—This one is money in the bank. You only have to guess how far she'll win by.

Katharine Hepburn—Running well on New York track after a siege of bad racing luck on the coast.

Vivien Leigh—Races for first time in Selznick's Scarlet silks, and clockers report she is ready to fly.

Hedy Lamarr—No doubt that she'll out screen anything that comes out of a camera finish.

The Stage

"One for the Money," an intimate musical revue which has just concluded a run of four months on Broadway, will open a limited engagement at the Harris theater next Monday. Nancy Hamilton, the author, appears prominently in a cast composed of young and talented performers whose names have not yet become known. The music was composed by Morgan Lewis, who was heard here as one of the pianists in the orchestra of "I Married an Angel." The show was staged by John Murray Anderson and produced by Gertrude Macy and Stanley Gilkey.

Good Morning!

The problems and pleasures of our young people and their parents are, apparently, becoming of more and more concern to producers. . . . For which condition of affairs credit is undoubtedly due the huge success of the "Judge Hardy" pictures.

Now comes "Sorority House," touching seriously on an angle of college life, that, despite its importance, hasn't been given much prominence on the screen.

The story is of three girls—roommates in a college boarding house. One has never even been "rushed." One IS rushed, but doesn't get the all-important invitation. One tears up the yearned for envelope when it comes. Because ——. Well, in that "because" lies the entire story.

The film, while a scathing indictment against alleged snobbishness and cruelty in sororities called anti-democratic, tells at the same time a moving tale. Alice Fisher, the girl who DOES get the invitation, has been sent to college by a father who could ill afford to do so and who has sacrificed his business in order to furnish the wherewithal for sorority expenses. She becomes the heart's desire of the school's most popular male student, who has a lot to do with the invitation's being issued. . . . Ann Shirley plays Alice with sincerity and charm.

Barbara Read does a beautiful bit as Dotty, the philosophical and friendly girl who never had so much as a look-in. . . . Adele Pearce as Merle, the rushee who is never a pledge, hands you several heart breaking moments. . . . You will love J. M. Kerrigan as the aforementioned father, be chilled by the heartlessness of the wretched Merle's ambitious aunt, and like a lot James Ellison as the nice guy who falls so immediately for that nice girl, Alice Fisher.

Direction is excellent.

You ask—Is the story biased?

I ask—How about it, college boys and girls?

Swing 'Mikado' Flops in New York; Blame Poor Crowds at Fair

Chicago's smash stage hit of the year, a swing version of "The Mikado," stalled in the doldrums of the New York theatrical season because of the poor pulling power of the eastern world's fair, members of the cast said yesterday on their return home. Plans for reopening the show, which closed May 20, are being considered.

More than 170,000 persons laughed at the gambols of the Negro cast while "The Mikado" played here. The WPA federal theater project moved the show to New York where it played to 76,000 persons at $1.10 top. A private corporation took over the show and ran it for three weeks at a $2.20 top (low prices for New York), but attendance dropped.

"Everything would have been fine if the New York fair had lived up to expectations," said Maurice Cooper, who has the tenor rôle of Nanki-Poo. "But the fair is getting only one-fifth of its expected attendance—200,000 instead of 1,000,000 a day."

Bernard Ulrich, one of the private producers of "The Mikado," said it may be reopened here shortly. The show was sold out here for weeks in advance when it was moved to New York.

An attempt is being made to take the show to San Francisco in connection with the west coast world's fair, he said. If this is done, a road tour will be made. Stockholders of the Maroline corporation, which now owns the show, will meet Wednesday to discuss the plans.

In private employment most cast members were paid $35 and $40 a week. While on WPA they received $23.50 a week, plus $21 a week maintenance for a limited period. Principals in the cast received much higher salaries from the private employer, however. Despite the present layoff they said they were glad to be off WPA rolls.

SYNOPSIS.

Jeff Hunter, an American mining engineer, awaits execution in a Mexican jail by order of Pancho Banderas, rebel leader. A peon friend helps him escape to Texas. Jeff meets Joan Raleigh, lost in the vastness of her feudal estate, and assists her home. He meets her brothers, Bill and Phil, and Phil's wife, Mary Lou. When they learn Jeff went to college with their cousin Raeburn, he is invited to be their guest. An old feud against the Raleighs is being renewed under the leadership of Butler Lane, suspected of poisoning their aunt his wife, and forging her will. Banderas, routed from Mexico, has joined Lane. Jeff offers to try to make peace with the better element, and with Jim Williams, starts for the ranch of Carl Nielsen. They are pursued and fired on by Banderas and his men, but manage to reach the Nielsen ranch. Banderas and his men appear. Jeff disarms them. Nielsen is shocked by the outlaws. The feud has prevented a romance between beautiful Olga Nielsen and Bill Raleigh. Next morning Nielsen leaves with Jeff for a conference with Phil Raleigh. Joan and Phil are missing—kidnaped in their own plane and made the prisoners of Banderas. Jeff, Jim Williams and Raeburn trail Lane Butler to the ranch of his ally, Rannigan. When Butler leaves Jeff forces Rannigan to lead them to the kidnaper's hideout. But Banderas has moved Joan and Phil into deeper hiding, after Phil had agreed to Butler's demands for fear of what might happen to Joan.

INSTALLMENT XXXXVII.

A MAN IN LOVE.

All the way to the ranch unhappy thoughts churned up in Jeff. Every second was taking him farther from Joan. He was deserting her, leaving her in the hands of the villains who had abducted her. It might be that even now she was in desperate need of him. Logically he could justify himself. He was giving up the hunt for the moment because that seemed the best way to serve her.

But logic is a poor thing to comfort a man in love, and Jeff knew now that his heart was reaching out to her with a wild emotion close to despair. No need to fool himself. She was the one woman in the world he wanted, the only one he would ever want. Every instinct in him revolted at leaving the pursuit, even for a few hours. He wanted to follow the trail, to push into the chaparral after the kidnapers, on a blind chance if necessary, in the hope of coming to grips with the miscreants who had captured her.

"If we take off inside of a quarter of an hour we ought to get to Trail End before Lane," Rae said.

Mary Lou had heard the plane and came out of the house to meet them. She was a wraith of her usual cheerful self.

"Have you heard anything?" she asked.

Rae kissed her, holding her soft slim body close so that she might get the support of his strength. He told her what they had found out. Jeff gave her the note written by her sister-in-law.

"By morning we'll be combing the chaparral," he said, his voice warm and reassuring. "Where's Bill?"

"He's raiding some of the ranches hear there—Rannigan's and Fidler's and others."

"If he calls up tell him what we know. Say for him to get hold of Rannigan. That weasel can guide him to the camp where the plane landed. After that he'll be on his own."

"What are you going to do?" she asked, her voice breaking.

Jeff thought it better to divert her mind by telling their plan. "We're headed for town to invite Mr. Lane to the River Bend. He wants to come, so we'll try to oblige him. After that—if we get him—we'll talk about a swap of prisoners."

"How many men are you going to take?"

"Just we three. This has to be done on the quiet or there would be a general battle, which we don't want. It's a secret, Mary Lou, so don't say anything about it to Bill over the phone for fear there might be a leak."

"No." She bit her lip to keep back a sob. "O, Jeff, I'm dreadfully afraid."

"Don't be," he said, and took her cold little hand in his warm one. "Phil will play his cards for all they are worth. What concessions he has to make he will. This is going to work out all right."

"Bet yore boots it is ma'am," Jim Williams said, grinning at her by way of confidence. "You fix up a room for that guest we aim to bring back with us."

"And have some one bring a big car to town," Rae suggested. "He had better leave it at McIlheny's. We may be ready for it by the time he can get there."

"Don't . . . do anything dangerous," Mary Lou begged.

"No," her cousin promised promptly. "The only danger is that you'll be sent to Leavenworth for aiding and abetting kidnapers."

The men drove back to the field and took off for Trail End. In the pasture of a deserted farm close to town they landed.

"Start from here to join me in ten minutes," Jeff said. "I'll meet you at the side entrance and give you the number of my room."

"We'll be waiting at the gate," Williams replied.

Jeff walked uptown and turned in at the hotel. He took a single room in the name of William K. Hoskins and was shown to it by a bellboy. For stage purposes he had prepared himself with a suitcase. The contents of it were strictly utilitarian, two pairs of handcuffs and a coil of rope.

It was a four-story building, and his room was on the third. The self-serve elevator was empty except for him and the bellhop who ran it.

"You have a guest here who wants to see me," he said casually. "The name is Butler Lane. Is he in, do you know?"

"No, sir. He isn't, not right now."

"What's the number of his room?" Jeff asked, indifferently.

"Three twenty-three." The bellboy nodded toward a door as they passed. "That's his. Two of his friends have the next one."

"Okay! Don't tell him I asked if he comes in. I want to clean up a bit before I drop in on him."

The boy unlocked the door of the new guest's room, turned on the lights, and opened the window.

"Anything else, sir?"

"No." Jeff handed him a half dollar. He thought that was enough to make the lad grateful but not enough to stir suspicion.

Jeff looked at his watch, made some investigations in regard to exits and entrance, and went down a back stairway which brought him out near the back alley up which he had walked a few hours earlier.

His glance picked up two figures standing in the closed side doorway of the store next to the hotel. They moved across to him. A moment later they were climbing the same stairs their companion had just descended. Jeff made sure the corridor on the third floor was empty, then walked to his room and unlocked the door. The other two joined him a moment later. Old Jim sat down on the bed, took off his boots, and lay down.

"Gosh ding it, soon as I get rested a mite I'm gonna bathe the old dogs," he said. "But they'll never be what they was before I started sashayin' around with you galoots."

Jeff put the lights out, but left the door ajar. Some guests would arrive presently, and he wanted to know in what rooms they disposed themselves. The old cowboy fell asleep almost at once

It must have been about fifteen minutes later that the elevator stopped at the third floor and disgorged four men. The fourth member of the party was Mallow, the other three Lane and two of his guards. All of them went into room three twenty-three. They closed the door behind them.

A quarter of an hour after the arrival of the Lane party the door opened again. Mallow and one of the guards came out. The realtor said, "Be seeing you in the morning," and walked down the hall to the elevator. His companion went into three twenty-one and turned the key in the lock.

Jeff waited what seemed to him a long time before he slipped down the corridor in his stocking feet. He listened at both doors. From one came the sounds of snores. There were voices of men talking in Lane's room, but the light went out as the eavesdropper listened. He could not make out what was being said. There were two or three remarks in the darkness, followed by silence. Evidently those inside were settling to sleep.

What marvelous things can be done with a bowlful of biscuit dough! Once you've mixed the flour and fat and milk you're beset with temptations. Perhaps you'd originally started out to make plain biscuits, but mightn't you as well make quick pecan rolls, cinnamon rolls, orange rolls, or maybe even shortcake or fruit dumplings?

One of the first cookery accomplishments for a beginner should be the ability to put together a baking powder biscuit dough. When she has learned to mix it properly and knead it just enough she has learned to make not only fluffy biscuits, but a score of biscuit variations, coffee cakes and biscuity desserts.

Basic Recipe for Baking Powder Biscuits.

[1½ Dozen Small.]

2 cups all purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup hard fat [butter, lard, margarine, or vegetable shortening]
¾ cup milk

Sift flour, salt, and baking powder together several times, and work in the shortening with two knives, a pastry blender, or the tips of the fingers. When mixed sufficiently the materials will be in small lumps. Do not mix too thoroughly or the biscuits will not be flaky. Add milk and stir vigorously until all of the flour is dampened. Turn out on a lightly floured board, pat out with the hands, fold over and pat out again, kneading thus for about one minute, using the hands lightly. Pat out or roll to about a half inch in thickness and cut with a floured biscuit cutter. Place biscuits on ungreased cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees, for 12 to 15 minutes.

VARIATIONS.

DROP BISCUITS: Increase milk to 1 cup and stir to make a soft dough. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased sheet and bake as described.

CHEESE BISCUITS: Add ½ cup grated cheese to the dry ingredients.

SAVORY BISCUITS: These are good for cocktail service or the party snack. Add ½ cup grated cheese, ½ teaspoon curry powder, and ¼ teaspoon dry mustard to the recipe. Dough may be cut in strips and rolled around broiled cocktail frankfurters before baking, if desired.

TOMATO BISCUITS: Use tomato juice instead of milk in the recipe. Tomato-cheese biscuits may be made by adding ½ cup grated cheese. These are delicious.

CINNAMON ROLLS: Roll dough into a sheet. Spread with melted butter and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Raisins or currants may be added. Roll up, slice off and place, cut side up, on a greased baking sheet. Bake as usual.

QUICK PECAN ROLLS: Roll dough out into a sheet and spread with melted butter. Sprinkle with brown sugar, roll, and slice. Place in muffin pans coated thickly with a mixture made by creaming together 3 tablespoons butter and 6 tablespoons brown sugar. Place several pecan meats in the bottom of each muffin cup. Bake as usual.

Coffee cakes and breakfast cakes are made by adding a little sugar and, perhaps, an egg or two to the dough, spreading it in a greased pan with a topping or fruit filling. But these recipes will have to be left for another day.

Monday, May 29.

Today's background vibrations are positive and can be made into considerable good by looking into the future. In the foreground, however, are temptings to be too short, to become angry, to feel sorry for ourselves—let's hold back a bit.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead, if born on this date, shows distinct promise of some kind of benefit if you try harder to be a friend, especially June 4-Sept. 18 and Jan. 21-Feb. 21. Danger: May 29-July 31, and March 30-April 18, 1940.

Select Hosiery Shades That Flatter Legs

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We think that more nice legs are ruined with the haphazard dressing of them than through anything nature has done against their owner. We stood at a stocking counter, for instance, the other day just to watch how women choose colors to wear.

We may be wrong in holding a bitter prejudice against the deep suntan type of hosiery, for so few, few women can so recklessly focus attention on their underpinnings as with colors with a strong pink cast, reddish, orange, and yellow. Leave them to the young, say we, for the young can wear anything and no one seems to mind. But an older girl or woman with the usual calf development common to her years, does need to be careful about getting the stocking shade that does not scream at a passerby.

The colorless sand tones are flattering to a leg that isn't slim, because they are unobtrusive. There are other shades, too, that do not cry out for attention, and which a little shopping about will reveal.

Too, there should be a certain harmony of tone from skirt to ground so that the eye isn't focussed on one inharmonious note.

Then, in the new mode, stockings are designed to go with a certain type of shoe. The ribbed mesh stockings for sports shoes look better than a sheer stocking you'd wear with dress shoes. The up and down rib makes legs look slimmer and this type of stocking wears well.

For the open shanked shoe, a stocking with invisible, narrow reinforcement under the foot looks much better than the usual dark line supplied by a heavy reinforcement. Clocked stockings are an aid to ankle slenderizing. For dancing sandals, of course, you'll wear your sheerest gossamer threads, but again, always in the color that slenderizes and flatters the leg and ankle.

ater party on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Sammons will have a cocktail party on next Sunday, and the bridal dinner will be given next Saturday at Mrs. Dunn's.

Francis German Wrightson III., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dawson Wrightson of Stamford, Conn., soon will bring a bride to Evanston. She is the former Miss Margaret Elizabeth Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Campbell of Greenwich, Conn. They were married last Saturday afternoon in the Second Congregational church in Greenwich with a reception following at the Woodway Beach club in Stamford.

The bride wore a family gown with a duchess lace bodice and halo. The only Chicagoan among the attendants was Renwick S. Tweedy, who was an usher. The former Miss Campbell attended the Greenwich academy and the Grand Central Art school. Mr. Wrightson was graduated from the Woodbury Forest school in 1934 and attended Princeton university.

The Housewife

Everything's transparent, these days—shower curtains, garment and utility bags, raincoats, cigaret wrappers, and what have you. And canisters for the kitchen are no exception. You don't have to wrestle with the cover and peer within to tell what's inside. It shows right through the container.

These transparent canister sets [four pieces] have pretty little colored designs in the center front and their lids are made in a choice of colors to go with your kitchen color scheme. There are also spice sets and cookie jars in this ware.

WEDDING

The marriage on last Friday of Miss Dorothy Jane Echstein to Milton Herman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Herman of 6748 Ridgeland avenue, has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Isidor Echstein of 1380 Hyde Park boulevard.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I inclose a hand which was played at the International Bridge league's congress at Oslo, Norway, last year. As you will see, the hand involves careful planning at the first trick, and I consider that it was exceptionally well played. You may not agree with me, but here it is.

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 spade | Pass | 3 spades | Pass |
| 4 no trump | Pass | 5 no trump | Pass |
| 7 spades | Pass | Pass | Pass |

"Obviously, after South located spade support and two aces in his partner's hand, a grand slam became an odds-on chance. Actually, as you will note, it could have been defeated by West's guessing to open a club, which East would have ruffed, but I know you will agree that such a guess would have bordered on the occult. West actually led the king of hearts, and who can blame him?

"It was declarer's choice of discards on the blank heart ace that is the entire point of this deal. Am I wrong, or unduly cynical, in feeling that most players would thoughtlessly let go a low diamond from the South hand? I don't think so. But this declarer was made of sterner stuff. He did not even put his finger on a diamond. He thought for a moment and then made the much shrewder and sounder discard of the club ten. After that, of course, it was an easy matter to collect thirteen tricks. The adverse trumps were drawn in one lead and the A-K-Q of clubs were cashed. Declarer must have had quite a thrill when he found that his club discard on the heart ace had been absolutely necessary; that if he had let go a diamond he now would have a sure club loser. As it was, after cashing the three top clubs, all he had to do was return to dummy with a diamond or a trump and ruff one club in order to establish dummy's fifth club for a diamond discard.—R. K. P., Edinburgh, Scotland."

I agree fully with my correspondent's enthusiasm and with his suspicions. The crucial play, although supremely simple, would escape the notice of all but careful players and, for that very reason, the actual declarer deserved congratulations. There was absolutely nothing to lose by discarding the club ten, but most of us would not give the matter a second thought. We would jump to the conclusion that our clubs were solid and that we had better get rid of that little diamond in a hurry.

After all, the essence of beauty in bridge, as in almost everything, is simplicity, and this hand proves that thesis.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

When we recently ran into an old friend we hadn't seen for more than a year we were much impressed with the beauty of her figure and her radiant vitality. She'd been hefty last time we saw her. Not muscular, but frankly fat, phlegmatic, and slow moving.

In the course in two years she'd certainly changed and was more than willing to tell how. It's swimming, nothing more. It began when she took her small daughter for swimming lessons. She'd never known how to swim herself and decided that her daughter must learn. It hadn't occurred to her, until the wise swimming coach pointed it out, that she herself could learn even though she was in her middle thirties.

The first benefit of swimming, she says, was increased pep. After a period in the water she felt fresh, relaxed, and ready to step lively. She swears swimming cured her jitters.

Then she noticed the change in her figure. She hadn't known she had muscles until she took up this easy kind of exercise. She dieted a little, swam a lot, and today has the silhouette of a fashion model. And she feels as good as she looks.

You might think about it for yourself. There's no age limit when it comes to learning how to swim.

Crochet Summer Hat May Assume Many Identities

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A summer hat of the sunshade variety may be crocheted of cotton, linen, carpet warp, gimp, crêpe, or even crêpe paper. It is created in the simplest of stitches, double crochet, and one hat may assume several identities, running the gamut from a poolie hat fastened under the chin, to a chic pancake beret tied at the back.

For instructions in crocheting the poolie hat, No. X-273, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

N. Y. POLICE GRILL CHICAGO CAPTIVE IN YACHT MURDER

Harbor Thief Names Two as Collings Killers.

For several hours last night New York and Chicago authorities questioned a young man who professes to know the solution of the weird murder of Benjamin Collings, eccentric yachtsman, who was slain in Long Island sound nearly eight years ago.

Fred J. Munder.

The young man is Noble Charles Chambers, 22 years old, a roustabout, who hails from Gloucester, Mass. According to Chambers, Collings was slain by mistake by rum runners. After hearing Chambers' story, Fred J. Munder, district attorney of Suffolk county, New York, declared "It doesn't sound plausible," He added, however, that the story was sufficient to justify further investigation.

New York Officials Here.

Munder and his chief investigator, John Hulsen, flew to Chicago last night after learning of Chambers' tale. Chambers was arrested as a harbor thief by park police Thursday, and is still in their custody. While being questioned he hinted he knew something about the Collings case.

Collings, a Yale graduate, 38 years old, was beaten and thrown from his yacht, the Penguin, in Long Island sound on Sept. 9, 1931, by an elderly man and a young man. His wife, Lillian, was terrorized and raped. No motive for the murder was ever found.

According to Chambers, a rum runner and his son narrowly escaped capture by coast guards while carrying bootleg liquor in their boat. The elder rum runner, he said, suspected two informers of telling the coast guards and vowed "to get even." He killed one of the men, a sailor, said Chambers, and later he and his son, whom he named, killed Collings by mistake.

Sticks to His Story.

This was the story originally told by Chambers to Chief James Kerr of the park district police and repeated, with variations last night to Kerr, Mr. Munder, and his chief investigator. Mr. Munder drew from Chambers the admission that all he knew of the case was what he overheard in a conversation between the two rum runners.

"If Chambers' story is true," said District Attorney Munder, "he was twenty-five miles away from the scene, in Long Island sound. It is true that a sailor was killed in the sound about the time of the Collings murder, but the circumstances are not as Chambers says; the sailor was killed in a brawl on a boat.

"In other particulars Chambers' story does not jibe with the facts known in the Collings case. It's sort of fantastical and doesn't sound plausible. He told enough, however, to make it necessary that we investigate further."

Chambers, who was questioned last night at the park district headquarters, will be questioned today at the Hyde Park police station. Meanwhile New York police will search for the two men Chambers named as the slayers. He thinks they are in New York.

CRUSHED TO DEATH ON STEEL CAR.

An unidentified man about 25 years old was found crushed to death yesterday in a flat car loaded with steel on the tracks of the Indiana Harbor Belt Line railroad in Hammond, Ind. Police said the steel apparently fell on him.

LESTER DIRCKS.

South Bend, Ind., May 28.—(AP)—Seven year old Lester Dircks, a brown-eyed boy with a shy smile, is beginning what may be his last summer. He is the victim of scleroderma, rare disease that is turning his skin to leather.

In every other respect he is healthy. Doctors say the disease is a diffuse hardening of the subcutaneous connecting tissue between the muscles and the skin. They believe the malady results from a maladjustment of metabolism in the child's body. There is no known cure.

The boy's skin is leathery already, and cool. It feels much like semi-hard rubber. The hardening tissue shuts off the pores and halts circulation of blood to the skin.

BEATEN DOCTOR SAYS STRANGER ATTACKED HIM

Dr. Robert A. Koch, 45 years old, was questioned by police last night for the first time since he was found badly beaten two days ago on the second floor of the Public Health institute, 169 North Dearborn street, where he is a staff physician. Dr. Koch, who lives at 2330 Lincoln Park West, is in St. Luke's hospital.

Dr. Koch said a short man he had never seen before approached him. The stranger, Dr. Koch said, shouted: "You made a wrong diagnosis," and then struck him a smashing blow with a bandaged hand which seemed to hold a piece of metal.

Dr. Koch said he was at a loss to explain the attack. Police said the physician told them he could not identify his assailant.

Dies of Injuries Incurred in Collision; Another Hurt

Racine, Wis., May 28.—[Special.]—Frank Zaczek, 30 years old, a Milwaukeean, died today at St. Mary's hospital as a result of injuries incurred in a head-on collision on highway 41 yesterday. The driver of the other car was Henry Fonk, 30 years old, of Kenosha. He was injured.

DRAFT NEW PLAN TO PLUG HOLES IN JUVENILE COURT

Prosecutor's Aid Assigned to Help Judge Bicek.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

A plan to plug holes in the Juvenile court system through which young criminals escape proper punishment has been worked out by Judge Frank Bicek of the Juvenile court and State's Attorney Courtney. The plan was announced with the assignment of Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin to the Juvenile court.

Prosecutor Sherwin.

Sherwin has more than six years of trial and investigation experience in the criminal courts. This experience will enable him to separate the potentially good boys from the bad ones as they come into Juvenile court. He will assist and advise Judge Bicek in the disposition of the cases.

Under the new plan all repeater and felony cases will be placed on a separate call on Wednesdays. This will start June 14. Judge Bicek will try these cases, with Sherwin before him as prosecutor.

Juvenile Officers to Aid.

Sherwin will be supplied with a copy of the history of every young offender brought into the court who has committed a felony or is a repeater. Police designated at the various stations as juvenile officers, who handle most of the cases of youthful offenders, also have been instructed to coöperate with Sherwin.

Under the new system Judge Bicek and Sherwin, instead of a policeman, will decide whether a youthful offender shall be tried in Juvenile or Criminal court. In the past some of Judge Bicek's assistants or some of the sobsisters in the court have determined whether the judge should hear the cases.

"Under the new plan," said Sherwin, "we will be able to decide whether a youth deserves a chance at St. Charles or whether he is too tough for the institution and belongs in the Criminal court. We hope by careful scrutiny of all serious cases to cut down on juvenile crime, which has been so prevalent in the last few years."

Bicek Suggests Change.

Judge Bicek suggested the change after the exposure of conditions in the St. Charles School for Boys, the scene of innumerable escapes and scandals. The juvenile court sends approximately 52 per cent of the inmates to St. Charles. Judge Bicek asked for more assistance from Courtney; and Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin was assigned to make a survey. He reported the results of his investigation recently and the new system was worked out.

Assistant State's Attorney Stanley Cross, regularly assigned prosecutor to the Juvenile court, will remain at his post advising social workers on family matters.

Sherwin will handle only the more serious juvenile cases. He will devote as much time to his new duties as necessary to see that the holes are well plugged and that no young toughs escape. If one court session a week is insufficient two will be held, and if necessary Sherwin will spend all his time in court.

NATIONAL GUARD ENDS TRAINING IN SMALL ARMS

The fifth annual school of small arms of the Illinois National Guard, which began Thursday, ended yesterday at Camp Logan. Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commanding officer, and Maj. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commandant of the 6th corps area of the regular arm, addressed the 240 officers and noncommissioned officers.

50,000 View Big Airship; May Fly Over City Today

More than 50,000 persons visited Chicago airport yesterday to see the Super Mainliner of the United Air Lines. The plane is the largest in the United States. It can carry forty-two passengers. J. A. Herlihy, vice president of United Air Lines, said that the tremendous crowd of sightseers proved that "Chicagoans are air minded." The ship will be on public display all day tomorrow for holiday sightseers. It may be flown over the city at noon today.

Fire Damages 2 Factories; Delays Lake Street Cars

Street car trafic was temporarily blocked last night by a fire on the third floor at 311 West Lake street. The fire started from spontaneous combustion in the Richards-Wilcox Manufacturing company and spread to the fourth floor plant of the Columbia Metal company. Chief Cornelius Minahan of the 1st battalion estimated damage at $1,000.

Weather Forecaster Lloyd May Get Kansas City Post

Washington, D. C., May 28.—(AP)—Commander Francis W. Reichelderfer, federal weather bureau chief, said today that authorization for a district forecast station at Kansas City, Mo., was contained in a department of agriculture supply bill pending in congress. If the bill is approved, Reichelderfer said, J. R. Lloyd of Chicago would be named district forecaster. He said Andrew M. Hamrick would be retained as administrative head at Kansas City. Lloyd, who has been connected with the weather bureau in Chicago for about eight years, came here a few days ago.

PARENT-TEACHER GROUP TO ACT IN FOREST PARTIES

Rap Liquor Sale to Minors in Student Scandal.

The Berwyn council of the Parent-Teacher association will meet tomorrow to consider group action in connection with the arrest Saturday of eight boys and young men on charges growing out of alleged wild parties involving a grammar school girl and two high school girls. About fifty other youths have been named by the girls, according to Lieut. George Stava of the Berwyn police.

R. W. Hoffman.

"We have been trying to get a separate high school for Berwyn," said Mrs. Samuel Kaar, president of the P.-T. A. council. "This probably will influence people to a greater extent than anything else. The trouble with J. Sterling Morton High school is the congestion. There are nearly 7,000 students there—far too many for close supervision."

Charge Liquor Sale to Minors.

Richard W. Hoffman, president of the Cicero-Stickney Township board of education, said Saturday he would investigate conditions immediately. C. W. Cwiklinski, assistant state's attorney, has promised to look into charges that the girls and their escorts purchased liquor in suburb taverns before driving to the forest preserves for evening parties.

Six of the youths arrested have been charged with rape. The other two are accused of contributing to the delinquency of minors. All are free on bond, and no court action will be taken until after graduation exercises at the Morton school June 9. The eight are from Cicero, La Grange, Berwyn, and Harvey.

The Rev. Henry C. Hoover, head of the Berwyn Ministers' association, yesterday placed the blame for the "unfortunate affair" on the fact that "there is no place for recreation or refreshments in Berwyn except where liquor is sold."

Repeal Hits Suburb Hard.

"We never had a saloon or a tavern in Berwyn until repeal," he said, "but repeal hit us and hit us hard. Berwyn is now one of the wettest cities of its size. Liquor has invaded the local cafeterias, bowling alleys, and drug stores. You can't have liquor scattered all over the city and not have young people become its victims. The taverns that sold intoxicants to these young people should have their licenses revoked."

A Berwyn young people's group, the liquor control committee, formed a few months ago under the general chairmanship of Howard Ritzma, 17 years old, of 3220 East avenue, Berwyn, already has persuaded one merchant to stop selling liquor and obtained a promise from another to stop when his license expires. The committee plans to confer with Mayor Anton Janura, Ritzma said, in an effort to improve the situation.

MANIAC GUNMAN FACES QUIZ ON CHICAGO KILLINGS

Desplaines street police today will question Frank Haines about unsolved slayings in Chicago since Haines and four other criminal maniacs escaped last Jan. 1 from the Lima, O., prison for insane felons. Haines shot and wounded two men in a Madison street tavern early Saturday.

Capt. Julian Bernacchi attempted to question him yesterday, but the gunman refused to talk. He still was suffering from the beating he received from tavern patrons, who overpowered him and took away his pistol before police arrived.

The two men whom Haines shot are in a serious condition. They are Paul Gagne, 24 years old, of Stafford Springs, Conn., who was wounded in the stomach, and George Roach, 25, of 1426 Madison street, who was shot in the throat. It is feared Gagne will die of his wound.

Pick First Vegetables

May 28, 1939.

THE first fresh vegetables from the new garden at the Du Page county farm were harvested last Friday. They were green onions from sets planted April 26, just one month before the first plants were ready to be eaten. Those pulled Friday were small, but the onions are expected to be about the right size for the table by the middle of this week. Early radishes will be ready in a few days.

All the vegetables are growing rapidly. Bush beans that were barely showing through the ground one morning were up two inches by noon the next day. Rains have been light for the last two weeks, but there has been plenty of moisture in the soil all the time. Only the surface has been dry.

Plant Sweet Corn.

The fourth planting of sweet corn will be made this week. Some will be planted each week until well along into the summer. This plan last year furnished roasting ears continuously from the time the first ones were ready to eat until frost. Sweet corn has been coming up in seven days. It likely will take only five later on when the nights get warmer.

Gophers have been digging up the early planted sweet corn at the ends of the rows near the roadside. They dig up the small plants and eat what remains of the seed kernel. The gophers have their burrows along the side of the road. They have not yet ventured far out into the garden.

Four-Legged Lawn Mowers.

Ewes and lambs are serving as lawn mowers at the farm. They have been taken out of their clover pasture and put to work cleaning up lanes and drives about the place. They seem to like their new task. The lambs are just as frisky as when wading in red clover up to their knees. The ewes are contented; they eat all they want and then lie down in the shade to rest.

The sheep have done a good job, especially on the weeds. They have nipped wild mustard plants to the ground. The sheep are shifted from one place to another as they finish a job. They usually eat the weeds first and then start on the grass.

Save Time and Toil.

The practice of using sheep instead of mowers to clean up grass and weeds and odd lots is followed each year. It saves time and labor and apparently does no harm to the sheep. Trees in most of these places make it difficult to use mowing machines.

Sheep do a fairly clean job except where the grass is tall and coarse. Some of the bluegrass now is heading out and forming seed. It is tough and not so palatable as younger grass. The flock will be put back on clover pasture when they have finished their mowing.

DEVORE BEATS OUT ROBSON FOR LAST POSITION

35,000 See Dramatic Finish of Trials.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.—The fastest field in the history of the speedway was completed today for the annual 500 mile Memorial day automobile race here.

The average for the thirty-three starters in their ten mile preliminary tests was 123.547 miles an hour. In the fifty mile preliminaries last year the average was 120.032 m. p. h. The nine days of qualification sprints ended dramatically. Four minutes before the track was to be closed until race day there were thirty-two cars that had qualified. Five other machines were on the apron and there were three or four others in the pits with mechanics desperately trying to tinker enough horse power into the motors to fight for the single remaining position.

George Robson of Huntington Park, Cal., a dirt runner, who completed American Automobile association examinations for the big league here this morning, was wheeled out in an Italian Maserati, owned by Deacon Litz. He roared four times around the two and a half mile track like a veteran and was cheered from the grand stands for his average of 116.305 m. p. h. It looked as if he had won the thirty-third position in the race for $100,000 in prizes.

Billy Devore Takes Track.

Billy Devore of St. John, Kas., went on the track with four cylinders whining from the forced carburetion of a supercharger. The car, owned by Leon Duray, a former driver, had been wrecked last week by Ronnie Householder. Working night and day it was rebuilt. The job was finished this morning.

Devore did three laps at 115 m. p. h. and shut off. It wasn't fast enough. Before the track was to close he started a lap preliminary to a second try and the engine died. Duray shook his head and didn't even help while the machine was pushed to a second start.

On his second try Devore completed the first lap in 115.207, too slow to do any good. But he stepped on the accelerator and finished the four laps at an average of 116.527 m. p. h., fast enough by .59 of a second to crowd out Robson in the thirty-third place in the line up.

Five Others Qualify.

Other cars still not ready after a year of planning and months of trials with various adjustments and various fuels, were out of luck.

In addition to Devore, five others were added to the lineup on this final qualification day. Harry MacQuinn of Milwaukee did 117.287 m. p. h. in a machine built and owned by Frank Brisko of Chicago. Litz, the Dubois, Pa., oldster, who has been trying to get into the big money here since 1927, labored a New York owned Maserati around the bends for 117.979 m. p. h. average.

Another Italian made car, an Alfa Romeo, was clocked at 118.425 m. p. h. under the guiding hand of Louie Tomei of Portland, Ore. Floyd Davis of Springfield, Ill., who had failed in two previous attempts, once due to a

HANDLERS HALT NOVA'S DRILL TO PREVENT INJURY

Sparmate's Thumb Lands in Lou's Eye.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Nyack, N. Y., May 28.—Lou Nova completed his drills this afternoon for his fight with Max Baer in Yankee stadium Thursday evening. But the fifth round of today's program was shortened unexpectedly by Trainer Ray Arcel, and Nova may consider himself fortunate indeed that he did not receive an injury which might have forced postponement of the fight.

Nova had fought one round with Harry Weber, Estonian heavyweight; two rounds with brittle Jorge Bresicia of Argentina, and was within seconds of completing his two rounds with Jimmy Smith, from New York's Bronx, when Arcel called a halt. In one of the fast exchanges Smith accidentally jabbed his left hand to the side of Nova's head, and his gloved thumb scraped Nova's right eye. The eye already was inflamed and discolored from previous workouts, so Arcel, fearful that a serious injury might occur ordered Smith from the ring.

Jimmy Is Sorry.

"I had my hand closed," Jimmy exclaimed apologetically. "Arcel was right in stopping the bout and I am glad Nova wasn't hurt. Anyway the last 20 seconds wouldn't have been important to Lou's training."

Nova said after today's workout that he is confident he is ready for Baer. He has prepared thoroughly.

"If I don't win," Lou said earnestly, "I will not feel that it has been the result of any fault in training program."

Today's drills brought the number of rounds Lou has boxed to ninety. He has been here at Dr. Pierre Bernard's estate for almost five weeks. And he has done road work for five days of each of these five weeks.

The boxing today was not set to the tempo of yesterday's six rounds. Nova was far slower, was hit hard at least twice by Brescia, and his exhibition again raised the question of whether or not he will be vulnerable to Baer's right hand. If Max has lost the punch which hammered Max Schmeling and Primo Carnera into submission, and his bouts with Tommy Farr would seem to indicate he has lost the Midas touch, then Nova needn't worry.

Harry Wills Is There.

Harry Wills, the one time knockerout who always finished second in his races to catch Jack Dempsey for a title fight, visited Nova's camp this afternoon. Wills has just recovered from his February fast, by which he lost 64 pounds, and regained the perpendicular lines of youth, but because he wishes to be consistent, having been to Baer's camp last week, Harry spoke up and said that Nova would be knocked out.

Wills didn't go into details. He was certain of his promise, however, although he was greeted with derision. It long has been the custom of Mike Jacobs' young men—Mike is the promoter of Thursday's fight, and has risen to complete control of the heavyweight boxing on the coattails of Joe Louis—to bring guest artists to camps to give the reporters lead paragraphs.

And Everybody's Happy.

These lines ordinarily are designed to conform to local wishes. Gene Tunney, visiting Nova last week, assured the young Californian he would whip Baer. The only champion, before today's indiscretion, who stepped out informally was Braddock. Jim assured all who would listen in Baer's speculator, N. Y., camp four years ago, just before Baer went to meet Joe Louis, that the fight would go fifteen rounds and Baer would win a decision. That bout ended in four rounds with Max cringing on the floor waiting for the count of ten.

BY ARCH WARD.

ALTUS ALLEN, who ended his days as an amateur boxer by defeating the heavyweight champion of Europe in the recent international Golden Gloves bouts, received $100 for his professional debut at White City Thursday night. . . . This is twice the amount Joe Louis made when he stepped out of Golden Gloves into the money ranks. . . . Sixty-six players, twenty-eight of whom are sophomores, are listed on Northwestern's football roster for next fall. . . . John Sisk, former Bear half back, has been elected a director of the Marquette University Alumni association. . . . He was a star for the Hilltoppers in his undergraduate days. . . . It is possible the Yankees some day will have an all-Di Maggio outfield. . . . Vince, formerly of the Bees, is spending the year at Kansas City, a Yankee farm, and is developing into something of a power hitter. . . . Brother Dominick is called by observers the best prospect in the Pacific Coast league and the Yankees, no doubt, will get first call on his services. . . . Iowa State has its own golf course, a tricky layout more suited to mountain goats. . . . During the recent Big Six directors' tournament there Biff Jones of Nebraska wagered Tom Stidham of Oklahoma that [1] Stidham couldn't get all the way around and [2] that he couldn't finish with any of three balls allotted him at the start. . . . They broke even but, according to Jones, it took Stidham six hours to complete 18 holes. . . .

Golf was introduced to Canada by officers on English ships about the time of the civil war. . . . Their activities led to the formation of the Montreal Golf club, now called the Royal Montreal Golf club. . . . Members were required to wear crimson coats and white trousers. . . . Saliva tests taken by the New York racing commission revealed the use of seventy-four different drugs in stimulating horses. . . . Carl Katz, star tennis player for James Monroe High school in New York City, has only one arm. . . . He lost his right arm in an automobile accident when he was 6. . . . George Halas is going to New York Wednesday to see what can be done about inducing Sid Luckman to play half back for the Bears next fall.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., May 28.—Johnny Allen, that amiable gentleman who operates on the theory that all batters should be blessed with the skill of African dodgers, spread a whitewash blanket of three hits over the White Sox today. But the Chicagoans, while taking their beating gracefully, 6 to 0, made the affair so interesting that for a few moments Allen had reason to fear injury might be inflicted by a baseball bat in the hands of Gerald Walker, a fellow who can stir up a temper when the occasion warants.

All the extra activity came about because Allen—yes, he's the same fellow who in a spring exhibition dented the skull of Lee Handley of the Pirates with a bean ball—turned loose a similar pitch at Walker's head in the sixth inning. He was slightly enraged at the moment because of a row in the previous inning with Manager Dykes, who while coaching at first base, wise-cracked about Allen's known habit of using the spit ball. Allen charged at Dykes, but halted when the manager, hands on hips, stood his ground.

Allen Beans Walker.

When Walker came up in the seventh two were gone, neither of them having been used as targets. But for one reason or another, perhaps a grievance of the past, Allen's first pitch to Walker plunked the former Tiger on the side of the head. He dodged just in time to suffer nothing worse than a glancing blow. He fell over getting away from the pitch, but was back on his feet in an instant. Bat in hand he started after his assailant. Not having any ball to throw, Allen backed up for every step that Walker took forward.

It proved just another of those baseball fights in which no blows are struck. The retreating Allen undoubtedly was greatly relieved when Catcher Frankie Pytlak, who was cautious enough not to remove his mask, moved up behind Walker and grabbed him. Walker tried to wriggle free and did, but before he could make another move he was shoved away by associates who included Manager Dykes. None of the Indians, Pytlak excepted, rushed out to protect Allen. The whole thing quieted down after the umpires refused to heed the plea

A Pitcher Must Field, Too

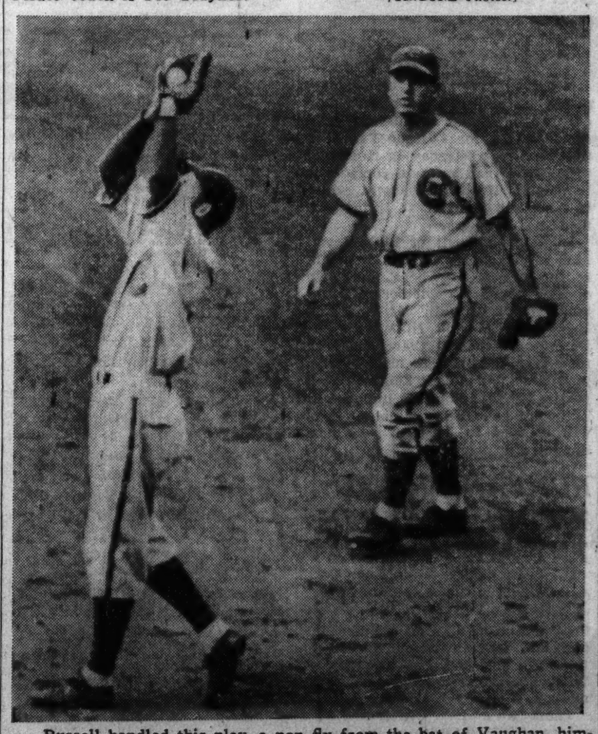
Dizzy Dean, who held the Pirates to eight hits as the Cubs won, 6 to 2, yesterday, takes Glenn Russell's toss to retire Arky Vaughan at first base in the first inning. The umpire is George Barr and the Pirate coach is Pie Traynor. [TRIBUNE Photos.]



Russell handled this play, a pop fly from the bat of Vaughan, himself in the third inning. Capt. Billy Herman is standing by, just in case he's needed. Dean's brilliant pitching job broke a three game losing streak for the Cubs.

HARTNETT'S BIG BAT HELPS DIZZY DEFEAT PIRATES

Victors Climb Back to Third Place.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Dizzy Dean pitched the Cubs back into third place yesterday as he beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 2, before a crowd of 26,511 chilled and sprinkled folks in Wrigley field.

It was Dean's second start and second victory. It might have been his second shutout had not Manager Gabby Hartnett, hitting hero, become punchy afield as a result of his cheering accomplishments with his bat. Gabby, who has dropped only three pop flies, fair or foul, in his long major career, precipitated a mild panic in the fifth inning by letting a popup plunk three feet off his toes for a single in front of the pitching mound.

He Didn't Get an Error.

Gabby was so far lost on the play that he couldn't even be charged with an error and his fourth dropped fly in history. A bit later, Arky Vaughan, who shouldn't have had a chance to bat in the inning, tripled off the right field wall to score Lee Handley and Bill Swift, who had done the popping up, with the only runs that have been made off Dean in twenty-three innings of National league pitching this season.

No one, least of all Dean, blamed Gabby for his reverie, the old gent being entitled to some personal hitting ecstasy after the swinging he'd been watching for three days before restoring himself to the lineup. Hartnett's contribution to the cause consisted of a double and a single and three runs batted in.

Dean was able to pitch himself out of several jams other than the one which produced the scores. Paul Waner opened the game with a double and advanced to third on Vaughan's sacrifice. Diz then made Johnny Rizzo tap to Dick Bartell, walked Fern Bell, and caused Bill Brubaker to pop a foul to Bartell.

Paul Waner also made the second Pirate hit. It was a single with one out in the third. Vaughan popped to G. Russell and Rizzo flied to Gleeson.

In the fifth Handley lined a double to left. Berres was called out on strikes. Then came the aforesaid popup by Swift. Ever since he has been in the league Dizzy has called such plays and protected the man designated to make the catch, even to the point of knocking down chargers from the infield. This time he hollered as usual, but Gabby was wool gathering and Gee Russell was confused. So a ball that could have been caught easily by Dean or Russell, but which was definitly in Hartnett's realm, plunked among the three for a scratch single. Handley, amazed with many others, stood on second to watch the spectacle. P. Waner supplied what should have been the third out with a fly to Gleeson.

Dizzy Just Too Good.

Handley beat out a bunt at the start of the seventh, but Berres forced him and Swift forced Berres. Paul Waner fouled to Hack.

Brubaker beat out a bunt to start the ninth, after which Suhr singled to left. Brubaker reached third when Galan juggled the ball. Handley then lined to Reynolds. Lloyd Waner, batting for Berres, fanned, and Tobin, batting for Swift, made it another fine day for Dizzy with a game ending pop to G. Russell.

Pass Leads to a Run.

The first run of the game was produced in the second inning. The session started with Galan getting a

WES FERRELL DRAWS RELEASE FROM YANKEES

New York, May 28.—(AP)—Wes Ferrell, 31 year old right handed pitcher, was given his unconditional release by the New York Yankees today.

For many years one of the American league's leading hurlers, he was the only member of the present Yankee pitching staff with less than a .500 percentage. He had lost two and won one.

Since Ferrell is a ten year man in major league service he is free to negotiate with any club in either league. He signed with the Yankees last August after being released by the Washington Senators and previously had played with the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians.

The Yankees now are one under the twenty-five player limit with nine pitchers, including Spurgeon Chandler, who was injured before spring training started and has yet to join the club.

TWO STAKES ON HOLIDAY CARD AT LINCOLN FIELDS

Race for Maiden Fillies Is Featured Today.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

A Memorial day program including two $2,500 stakes heads the coming week's schedule at Lincoln Fields. The Chicago Heights handicap will bring out a field of promising juveniles, and the Peabody Memorial will attract a high grade group of older horses. Next Saturday's Steger handicap will conclude the week's list of stakes.

One of the features of today's program will be a six furlong dash for Illinois owned horses of the cheaper claiming class. The main event will be a race for 2 year old maiden fillies. Woolford, Calumet, Valdina, and other good stables will take this opportunity to try out some of their well bred juveniles.

Calumet Makes Two Bids.

Trainer Kearns will send out two Calumet fillies which have never before been to the post. One is Little Risk, by Stimulus out of a Sir Gallahad III. mare, Risk, and the other is Dandy Gal by Hadagal out of a Whichone mare, Dandy One.

The first three days of the meeting have been marked by big crowds and close finishes. Three stake winners have emerged—Garrett Watt's Silverette, Mrs. Kirby Ramsey's Sassy Mate and Friedberg and Axton's Manie O'Hara.

The Woolford farm horses, trained by Ben Jones, have enjoyed the most consistent success during the first three days. This stable has won with Beau Insco, Sherron Ann and Chance Star and has taken second money with Colonel Ed, Quenemo, and Finella.

Beyda String Marches On.

Leo Beyda's horses, trained by Bill Causey, also have been going well. This stable has had one winner, Sure Swift, and four second place horses—Red Moss, Delta Dan, Imperial Jean, and Holl Image.

Mrs. Emil Denemark has had two winners—Finance and Prairie Dog.

Warren Yarberry is heading the jockey colony with five winners. Charley Kurtsinger and George Wallace each has three, one of the latter's victories having been scored in a stake event—the Crete handicap. The other stake winning jockeys are R. L. Vedder, who was aboard Sassy Mate in the Dearborn and Nunzio Pariso, who brought Manie O'Hara home in the Kankakee Saturday.

Time Is Short, Anglers! Bass Run Near End

BY BOB BECKER.

The white bass run out of Lake Winnebago up the Wolf river toward Fremont, Gills Landing, Weyauwega, and other towns along that stream is coming to an end. Decoration day usually marks about the finish of the annual migration of these fish, which give thousands of people a lot of fun every May.

Judging by the size of the run and the condition of the fish over the week-end it may be possible to get some white or silver bass this week, but most of the experienced fishermen on the river (the men who have watched the spring runs every season) feel that there won't be many more days of fun with the bass.

Lots to Do on Wolf.

We had a look at the upper Wolf, the big bends and deep holes in that stream near the famous Gills Landing, saw the Columbia river style fish wheel near Weyauwega, and felt the strike of white bass a few days ago on a visit to the river.

Our base was Weyauwega, Wis., which is just a few minutes' drive from Gills Landing, a spot that many white bass fishermen visit every spring. When we were fishing with George Dobbins and Russ Keeney of Weyauwega about a half mile below Gills Landing we noticed that occasionally the boys were hooking a small wall-eye (about keeper size) and a pickerel, or so-called northern pike. This part of the Wolf gets a heavy wall-eye spawning run in April. Most of the fish work back after spawning, but apparently a few stay in the stream.

Catches Rough Fish.

If you visit Weyauwega any time soon, by all means go see the big fish wheel, which is near town. A series of wire chambers have been built into the wheel and form huge "paddles." When a fish, coming up stream, is caught by the wheel, it is lifted into the air in one of the compartments and then automatically dropped out of the side into a wooden tank.

In this way the rough fish division of the Wisconsin conservation department can catch all the carp, suckers, and other rough fish which work upstream during a spawning run. Game fish caught by the wheel are returned to the river.

SMILIN' JACK—THE SILVER LINING

Two 8 Round Bouts Headline Marigold Card

Dick Kist, 1938 Danville, Ill., sectional Golden Gloves welterweight winner, and Quentin (Babe) Breese, Manhattan, Kas., junior welterweight, tonight will appear in two bouts of eight rounds heading the boxing show in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Kist will face Eddie Meleski of the Catholic Youth organization and Breese will encounter Meyer Alper of Montreal, Que.

Quentin, brother of Bus Breeze, former 140 pounder, will be making his first Chicago appearance. Babe suffered his first setback in two years at the hands of Milo Thedorescu in New York last March 31. Previously Babe had conquered Jackie (Kid) Berg, the old English slugger, in Hollywood, Cal.

Kist will make a fresh start against Meleski. In his last start Dick's undefeated record was spoiled by Theodorescu in the Coliseum on May 3. It was the Danville youngster's twenty-second professional fight. He won nineteen and scored two draw decisions.

Billy Seward, Ingamore, Mont., lightweight, opposes Andy Canal in a four round contest. Additional matches at this distance involve Alex Pug and Russell Nyberg and Rex Thomas and Pete Atkins.

Tony Musto, Blue Island heavyweight challenger, today will resume workouts in Kid Howard's gymnasium at 73 West Randolph street for a ten round encounter against Gunnar Barlund of Finland in Chicago Stadium, June 8. Barlund arrives from his camp at Stone Lake, Wis., Wednesday. Musto opened drills Saturday weighing 211 pounds, about ten more than his fighting poundage. Al Globe, Chicago light heavyweight, may meet Altus Allen in a four round preliminary contest on the Stadium program. Two supplementary engagements at ten rounds match Eric Seelig with Ken Overlin, and Milo Theodorescu with Nate Bolden.

Roy Woods, south side amateur welterweight boxer, and Bill Fulton will be opponents in a five round fight this evening in Coulon's gymnasium, 1154 East 63d street. F. M.

Spartas Score 5 to 2 Victory Over Kickers

The Spartas, Peel cup champions, using a makeshift lineup, defeated the Chicago Kickers, 5 to 2, in an International Soccer league match in Sparta stadium yesterday afternoon. Although five of their regulars were in St. Louis for the match with the Scottish All-Stars, the Spartas stepped out to a three goal lead in the first twenty minutes, Al Waldron counting twice and Billy Fraser once.

Then H. Gierer charged in to beat the Sparta goalie but Jimmy Munro made it four goals for Sparta a few minutes later with a penalty shot. Just before the first period closed John Tomich of the Spartas kicked into his own goal trying to clear.

The only goal in the second period was scored by Al Waldron, who connected from five yards out in a scrimmage in front of the goal. Lineups:

SCOTTISH STARS WIN

St. Louis, Mo., May 28.—(AP)—The touring Scottish International All-Star Soccer team routed a team of American All-Stars, 10 to 2, before a crowd of 7,500 today.

Archie Garrett of the Scottish team scored seven goals.

The Scots held a 3 to 1 lead at the half, Garrett scoring five times in the second period.

The first St. Louis score resulted from a penalty kick, and the last one was driven in near the end of the game by Buff Donnelli, forward.

ST. ADRIAN IS BEATEN, 12 TO 11, BY HOLY ROSARY

Holy Rosary (Slovak) team, making its debut in the C. Y. O. Baseball league, defeated St. Adrian, former C. Y. O. champion, yesterday afternoon, 12 to 11, at 113th street and Western avenue.

St. Hyacinth, another former C. Y. O. champion, won over St. John Cantius, 4 to 0, in a game halted after five innings because of rain. Walter Walsokowicz hurled for the victors, yielding two hits. Ted Hujar hit a home run for St. Hyacinth.

St. Roman, defending league champion, was leading, 6 to 1, over Good Shepherd in the third inning when rain forced postponement.

In a junior league contest, St. Barbara whipped Sacred Heart, 11 to 1. Sacred Heart team was held to one hit.

ROAMER NINE BEATEN.

Maroons Open Big 10 Tennis Title Defense

With Chicago the favorite to retain the championship, the annual Big Ten tennis tournament will open today on the University of Chicago varsity courts.

Play will begin at 9 this morning and continue through Wednesday. First round matches in all nine divisions—six brackets in singles and three in doubles—will be completed today. Semifinals in all divisions will be played tomorrow, and all finals will be played Wednesday afternoon. Today and tomorrow the No. 3, 4, 5, and 6 singles competition will take place in the morning, and the No. 1 and 2 singles and the No. 1, 2, and 3 doubles in the afternoon.

Maroons, N. U. Tops.

Having swept through all other conference teams in dual meets, Chicago and Northwestern are in a class by themselves, and since the Maroons have twice turned back the Wildcats in the last two weeks, 7½, 8-1, the south siders are clear favorites.

It is highly unlikely, however, that the Maroons can repeat their unprecedented feat of last year, when they won all nine championships—an achievement which on the average should occur about once every ninety years. But this is the time to attempt it, for it is the last Big Ten season for Chet and Bill Murphy, two of the brightest stars produced on the Midway. Chicago seems surest in the No. 2, 3, 4, and 5 singles divisions, and in the No. 1 and 2 doubles, for the Maroon record in dual meet competition in these brackets is unblemished.

Murphy Wachman Meet.

Chief interest will center in the No. 1 singles, where Chet Murphy of Chicago and Marvin Wachman of Northwestern are the standouts. Murphy and Wachman have met twice, each winning on the other's home court.

Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Ohio State are likely to fight it out for third place. Iowa and Purdue are rated below these. Points are awarded for each match won in the tournament.

who brought Wills to camp today, was so exasperated that he drove away from the estate and Wills was forced to walk to the ferry and take the train back to Harlem.

Weather Slows Up Lou.

Nova's indifferent drill today may be blamed on the temperature. It was very hot in the Hudson valley, although a breeze alleviated the heat occasionally. Several hundred saw the workout. More than half were vacationing guests of Dr. Bernard.

Nova will work carefully tomorrow and Tuesday under direction of Arcel, although all spar mates now have been excused.

MAX PREDICTS K. O.

Ferndale, N. Y., May 28.—(AP)—Max Baer climbed out on a limb today with the prediction he would knock out Lou Nova in six rounds or f

CARDINALS SNAP REDS' VICTORY STREAK, 6 TO 5

But Cincinnati Wins 2d Game, 8-4.

St. Louis, Mo., May 28.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals snapped Cincinnati's string of twelve straight victories by winning the first game of today's double-header, 6 to 5, but yielded, 8 to 4, in the nightcap before 33,538, the biggest crowd in two years.

The Reds' victory, their third in four games of the crucial series with the Cards, enabled them to hold their slim lead in the National league pennant chase.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 28.—(AP)—A five run rally in the eighth inning broke a 2 to 2 tie and gave the Giants their second straight victory over the Phillies today, 7 to 2.

Bill Jurges led off in the eighth with a double. Hank O'Dea bunted and Jurges beat Pitcher Max Butcher's throw to third. Mel Ott singled, scoring Jurges and bringing Walter Beck in to replace of Butcher. Zeke Bonura bunted and was safe on Beck's wide throw. Frank Demaree fanned, but Tony Lazzeri singled, scoring O'Dea and Ott. Burgess Whitehead then tripled to drive in Bonura and Lazzeri.

Bryant Is Left Behind as Cubs Start Road Trip

Clay Bryant, Cub right-hander, who was the club's No. 2 workman last season, was left behind when the boys left last night to open a three game series in Cincinnati today. Clay, who has been of little service this spring because of alleged soreness in his pitching arm, was instructed by Manager Gabby Hartnett to be in condition to take his turn when the team returns from the east. Observers gathered that steps might be taken if the hurler does not show a little more interest in his work.

Bill Lee will pitch for the Cubs and Whitey Moore for the Reds in today's game. The teams will play morning and afternoon games tomorrow.

The Cubs forgot the old time dash from the dugout when Dizzy Dean became embroiled in a verbal battle with Arky Vaughan at second base in the third inning. When it appeared fisticuffs were imminent Dick Bartell rushed to Diz's aid and the example caused some of the languorous splinter gatherers to rouse themselves from the bench.

Manager Gabby Hartnett, Dizzy Dean, Capt. Bill Herman, and Stan Hack will represent the Cubs at the baseball centennial celebration in Cooperstown, N. Y., on June 12. President P. K. Wrigley may attend and Vice President Charles Weber and Publicitor Charles Drake have made arrangements to be on hand.

The next excitement was in the turbulent third. Dean opened with a double to left. Rizzo apparently expected to play the ball off the wall, then turned to find it had been caught by the stiff north wind, Johnny made a dive and claimed he caught the ball. Umpire Charley Moran said he trapped it, and Dean, on second, was credited with a double. As the debating over the decision quieted down, Dean and Arky Vaughan were found to be at each other's throats at second base, with Umpire George Barr, a veteran of the Pirate-Cub "brawl game" of April, 1935, shoving and tugging to keep the players from devastating physical violence.

Then the Show Goes On.

After a while the boys decided not to fight and play was resumed. Hack dropped a single in right, Dean stopping at third. Herman bounced to Vaughan, whose toss to Brubaker was too late to force Hack, Dean scoring. Brubaker, in trying to relay the ball to first, threw to the dugout, Hack taking third and Herman second. Hack and Herman held their bases while Gleeson tapped to Suhr. Galan drew his second pass, loading the bases, and Reynolds was hit by a pitched ball, forcing Hack across the plate.

Hartnett then came through with his second bit of batting heroics. He singled to center, driving home Herman and Galan and putting Reynolds on third. Bill Swift replaced Bowman. Again G. Russell and Bartell were unable to do anything to back up the skipper's slugging. Russell whiffed and Bartell flied to Rizzo.

Just to Make Sure.

Cub threats thereafter were rare and only one produced. Gleeson led off the fifth with a triple, but Galan, Reynolds, and Hartnett couldn't send him home. Herman walked in the seventh and scored on a single by Reynolds after Gleeson had sacrificed him to second.

With two out in the eighth, Dean singled and took second on a scratch single by Hack. Dizzy and Stan advanced a base when Brubaker threw wide to first in an attempt to effect an out on Stan's hit. Herman then fouled to Berres.

that Allen should be ejected from the game.

Lee Grasps an Opportunity.

There were a few more episodes, however. It was necessary for Allen to bat in the seventh. Thornton [Lefty] Lee, who up to this point was struggling along under a 1 to 0 handicap, didn't overlook opportunity. Putting everything that he could into the pitch Lee aimed it straight for Allen's ribs, but the prospective target, expecting the worst, was ready and no damage was done, except to Lee. Having tried to convince Allen that two can play the same game, and having missed making his point, Lee blew up. The Indians promptly belted him for five runs which, considering the way Allen was pitching, were superfluous.

A little later Walker made his stab for vengeance. He came up in the ninth and bunted to Allen's left, a trick practiced because the pitcher has to field the ball and possibly cover first base. Allen fielded the ball and ran over toward the base line, but instead of stepping in front of Walker he gave him a polite tag with the ball. The bunt was a deliberate challenge to Allen's chronic desire to fight, but, after tagging Walker from a distance that the latter couldn't reach with his spikes unless he ran out of line, Allen went back to his pitching chores. And Walker quietly wended his way toward the bench.

Lee Is of Two Minds.

Lee wasn't certain in the first inning whether the Sox were for or agin him, but had reason to suspect it might be the latter. Pytlak, who led off in the Indians' lineup for the day, was safe on Appling's wide throw to Kuhel. Campbell flied to Walker and Hale should have been out on a foul to Radcliff, but Rip dropped the ball. A kindly scorer didn't consider it an error. Given this new lease Hale singled to right center, putting Pytlak on third. Lee took care of the remainder of the inning. Solters popped to Kuhel, Chapman walked, filling the bases, and Keltner struck out.

The Sox had a chance for a run in the second, but it was smothered by too much ambition on the base lines. Appling looped a safety into right and the ball caromed off Campbell's shin for a double. Grimes stepped toward the stand to get Kreevich's foul, and Appling elected to take third, where a fly ball would be sufficient to send him home. Grimes' throw to Keltner doubled Appling at the far corner.

Luck with the Indians.

Old Lady Luck was good to the Indians in their half of the second or they wouldn't have become heirs to a one run lead. With one out, Webb hoisted a fly close to the line in short left. Walker and Appling sprinted toward the spot, but neither arrived in time. Webb reached second on his bargain hit. Appling threw out Allen. Then Pytlak hit an unmistakable triple to right center, Webb scoring. Campbell flied to Walker for the third out.

The seventh, which improved the Indians' grip on the eventual decision, opened with Webb's single to left. Lee rifled the next pitch straight for Allen's ribs, but missed the mark. Allen bunted foul to Tresh on the next pitch and was glad to get away from the plate. Pytlak beat out a bunt which Lee threw wild, Webb going to third and Pytlak to second. Webb scored on Campbell's single through short. Then Hale and Solters tripled for three runs and Lee was removed. Chapman got a long fly off Rescuer Herring on which Solters scored the fifth run of the inning.

Sox Come Home to Play the Tigers Twice Tomorrow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., May 28.—Traveling Secretary Joe Barry piloted the White Sox back home tonight, all of them keenly anticipating a day of leisure tomorrow. Their next scheduled job will be a double-header Tuesday afternoon in Comiskey park with the Detroit Tigers. Ted Lyons and Jack Knott will pitch unless Manager Dykes thinks up a better idea.

Hal Trosky's stunt of trying to knock the ball out of Mike Tresh's hands yesterday when he was hopelessly trapped between third and home was costly. X-ray plates revealed he had disturbed the left shoulder joint and he may be out from four days to a couple of weeks. When he threw himself at Tresh the shoulder crashed against the catcher's shin guard.

The Municipal stadium, with its 78,000 seats, looked as deserted as a haunted house. The crowd totaled fewer than 7,500. The weather was at fault. Rain descended up to noontime and there were threats or more. Had the rain washed out today's game the Sox would have had to remain here and play it off tomorrow.

The night plant now being installed in the stadium will differ radically from any now in use. The orthodox style is a series of towers

TROLLEY AND BUS CHANGES URGED TO BENEFIT LOOP

When street cars and buses turn corners and double back while passing through the loop, they contribute to downtown trafic congestion. That is the consensus of the street trafic committee of the Downtown council. Philip F. W. Peck is chairman.

The committee made four recommendations about street cars. It suggested that turns be eliminated so far as possible; that State street tracks, north of Madison street, be placed in the center of the street; that more through cars be routed over Wabash avenue instead of State street and that east and west street car subways through the loop be constructed.

Bus lines were urged to take on passengers in the middle of the block where practicable. When street cars and buses both load at corners trafic congestion is greater, the committee said.

Recommendations for automobile trafic regulations included the elimination of "U" turns and cab cruising.

The second victim was Ivan Knapp, 30, of 532 Maryland street, Gary. He fell into waist deep water in Burns ditch, four and one-half miles east of Gary, near the lake. He refused aid, expecting to swim out. However, he became mired in the soft bottom and sank before help could reach him.

CALM SEA AIDS SALVAGE WORK ON SUB SQUALUS

Portsmouth, N. H., May 28.—(AP)—Prayers for the 26 men lost in the tragic dive of the new $4,000,000 submarine Squalus were said in Portsmouth churches today while the navy worked with all possible speed to raise the sunken craft.

Blessed with a clear sky and a calm sea, a crew of the navy's best divers kept on the job of readying the Squalus for salvage. It is estimated that it will require two weeks' work before the undersea vessel and its grim cargo could be brought up from its bed 240 feet below the surface.

Churchgoers in this navy yard city were reminded of the disaster of last Tuesday when they were asked to join in prayers for the lost shipmates of 33 officers and men who were rescued by an escape bell.

The navy disclosed efforts to solve the mystery of the fatal dive were under way. Lieutenant Commander John B. Longstaff said each survivor has written his account of what happened on the last dive of the Squalus.

BORAH TO FIGHT PLAN FOR TAXING U. S. SECURITIES

Storm in Congress Is Threatened.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—(AP)—Storm signals of powerful congressional opposition greeted today the treasury's proposal to include in the tax revision program a provision for taxing income from future issues of government securities.

Senator Borah.

Senator Borah [R., Idaho] served notice that if this controversial issue is embraced in a revision bill it will face a fight in the senate on constitutional grounds. He said the constitution does not permit the federal government to tax state securities or the states to tax federal securities.

Senator George [D., Ga.], influential member of the senate finance committee, said that inclusion of this proposal might cause the whole tax program to bog down in extended senate debate.

President Roosevelt asked congress early this session to make income from future issues of government bonds—federal, state, and local—subject to income taxes, federal and state. At present income from most such bonds is tax exempt.

Fought by States, Cities.

Mr. Roosevelt contended it could be done by simple statute, but some legislators have expressed the opinion that a constitutional amendment would be necessary. The proposal has drawn vigorous opposition from some states and cities on the ground it would increase the interest rate they would have to pay on their bonds.

Treasury officials estimated the levy would increase federal revenues by $300,000,000 a year. Secretary Morgenthau discussed the proposal before the house ways and means committee yesterday.

Outlining a tax revision program, he said the administration would agree to a reduction in some of the higher individual income surtax rates if legislation to tax income from government securities were passed.

The two steps should be considered together, he said, so that persons of large income should not be discouraged "from taking normal business risks."

Taxes Linked to Stagnation.

Some economists have contended that recovery is being held back because persons of great wealth find it advantageous to keep their money in tax exempt securities, rather than invest in productive enterprises and pay the high surtaxes to which their income would be subject.

Morgenthau's discussion of this question was the first intimation many senators had had that there was any intention to consider changes in the individual income structure at this session.

Aside from this one issue the treasury's program, which Morgenthau said was designed to remove "business irritants," appeared likely to have smooth legislative sailing.

Little opposition was expressed by legislators to other proposals which include repeal of the 2½ per cent undistributed profits tax, liberalization of the capital stock and excess profits taxes, and provision for a two year carryover on losses.

Investors' Guide

ABANDONS PLANS.

Investors' Guide: Last fall the president of the Fanny Farmer Candy shops told us stockholders that the company was studying the possibilities of opening a chain of stores in England. The plans at that time called for Fanny Farmer and an allied concern in Canada, Laura Secord Candy Shops, Ltd., to control the chain. Mr. Hayes, president of both companies was going to Europe to explore the possibilities.

Now can you tell me what, if anything, has been done along this line? I would appreciate your giving Fanny Farmers' 1938 and 1937 net income also since I seem to have misplaced my copy of the annual report.—O. S. J.

Answer: Plans for the opening of a candy store chain in England by Fanny Farmer Candy Shops, Inc., and Laura Secord Candy Shops, Ltd., have been dropped. About two months ago John D. Hayes, president of both the American and Canadian chains, announced that "unsettled conditions in Europe" led to the abandonment of the proposed chain.

Fanny Farmer, which operates retail shops in north central and eastern states, reported 1938 net income of $904,059. This compared with net income of $803,936 the preceding year. At the end of 1938 Fanny Farmer had 238 stores in operation, against 220 the year before.

LAKE FREIGHTERS.

Investors' Guide: What has been the record in the last few years of the Great Lakes Steamship company? Are they showing a profit? What are some of the products this line hauls? I have a chance to buy some stock of the company and anything you can tell me about it will help me to decide what to do.—J. J. C.

Answer: Iron ore, coal, and grain are the principal products carried by freighters of the Great Lakes Steamship Company, Inc. Its fleet of nineteen freighters with a total carrying capacity of 154,500 tons plies between the various Great Lakes ports from Duluth and Superior on the west to Buffalo and Toronto, Canada, on the east.

| | Gr. rev. | Net income. | Earn. Per share. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1938 .... | $ 602,464 | $ 3,904 | $0.03 |
| 1937 .... | 2,904,566 | 675,072 | 5.61 |

*Loss.

The company has outstanding 120,000 shares of no par value capital stock. A dividend of 50 cents a share was paid March 29. Last year dividends totaled $2 a share, and in 1937 a total of $5.25, including a special payment of $2.25, was disbursed.

Officers Sell More Shares in Own Firms

Sales outnumbered purchases in transactions by corporation officers, directors, and principal stockholders involving their own companies' securities during March. This was indicated yesterday by a supplemental summary issued by the Securities and Exchange commission.

Lord Weir sells Nickel stock.

An earlier summary covering March transactions showed purchases exceeded sales, a trend which was also noted in February. Selling had been prominent before January and was heavy during December.

Markin Acquires Stock.

Among the large transactions was the acquisition by Morris Markin, Kalamazoo, Mich., of 32,430 shares of the Checker Cab Manufacturing corporation, of which he is president, through the Cab Sales and Parts corporation. His indirect holdings thus rose to 40,580 shares and his direct interest remained at 26,130.

Lord Weir, Glasgow, Scotland, disposed of 4,000 shares of $5 par 7 per cent cumulative preferred of the International Nickel company of Canada, lowering his interest to 12,000. A director of the company, Lord Weir also owned 1,166 common shares at the end of March.

Other Transactions Listed.

Other transactions during March:

BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE WORKS—Arnold Bernhard, New York, a director, sold $6,000 of 6 per cent convertible refunding mortgage bonds, retaining $5,000. He bought 400 shares of common, boosting his holdings to 1,350.

CROWN CORK AND SEAL—C. E. M. Securities corporation, Jersey City, reduced its holdings 7,173 to 155,464 common shares in February, 1939. Charles E. McManus Jr., New York a director, added 806 shares in February to make his direct interest 1,119. He acquired other small holdings through three trusts.

WESTINGHOUSE AIR BRAKE—Benjamin V. Becker, Chicago, a director, sold 1,532 shares of capital stock, retaining 6,744.

William R. Odell of Lake Forest, Ill., reported that he held 116,632 shares of common stock of the Crane company on March 28, when he was elected a director.

PRINTING FIRM'S PROFIT IN YEAR UP TO $898,853

The W. F. Hall Printing company yesterday reported net income of $898,853 for the fiscal year ended March 31, equivalent to $2.32 a share on the common stock, after preferred dividends. This compared with the preceding year's net income of $593,371, or $1.49 a share.

The Pittston company, anthracite producer, reported consolidated net profit of $103,839 in the first three months of this year. In the first quarter of 1938 it had a loss of $293,518.

BANK WILL QUIT PAYING INTEREST ON ANY DEPOSITS

Blames Low Yields on Federal Bonds.

Newark, N. J., May 28.—[Special.]—The Bank of Commerce of Newark will not pay interest on any deposits after July 1, it was learned today. This will be the first instance of a commercial bank in the metropolitan area taking such a step. The policy is expected to spread to other financial institutions of this classification, it was indicated.

Heads of mutual savings banks which pay 2 per cent interest and heads of the larger commercial banks admitted this evening they are watching closely reaction to the Bank of Commerce's move. They would not make any comment concerning their plans, however.

Blame Roosevelt Policy.

[The Roosevelt administration's policy of cheap money is blamed by bankers for the difficulty they face in finding ways to use savings deposits profitably.]

[Banks in Chicago's northern suburbs disclosed last week they plan to reduce interest rates on savings deposits from 1½ to 1 per cent July 1. Chicago bankers say they regard the move as a forerunner of reductions within the city. Many banks in western and southern suburbs will make the cut July 1, and several already have done so.]

The Bank of Commerce, as in the case of most Newark commercial banks, has been paying interest at the annual rate of 1 per cent on time or savings accounts totaling less than $5,000. It had ceased earlier to pay interest on commercial or demand deposits.

Cites U. S. Bond Prices.

Explaining the new policy, B. D. Marzano, bank president, said "with United States government bonds selling at prices that make it necessary to hold them six years to maturity to get an annual return of 1 per cent, our board of directors is faced with the alternative of broadening our investment policy or of eliminating interest and keeping in a liquid position. We have decided to take the latter step."

POINTS FAILURE OF U. S. SCHEMES TO RAISE PRICES

New York, May 28.—(AP)—The Guaranty Trust company of New York, one of the biggest Wall street banks, said today the results of government price raising efforts suggest the "cart of purchasing power" was put before the "horse of recovery."

Pointing out the general commodity price level in the United States shows no net gain for the last five years, the bank asserted prices and the relative position of the farm producer might be more satisfactory today if price manipulation had been avoided.

"The government's proposal to barter American cotton and wheat for foreign rubber and tin is the latest move in the long campaign to improve the situation of agriculture in the United States," continued the bank in its monthly economic survey.

"It provides a striking illustration of the situation that has been brought about in international commodity markets in recent years, partly by economic forces, but more largely by political interference with those forces."

Existing air routes in the United States (in heavy lines) and new routes for which application has been made (in light lines). The nation now has 35,000 miles in its commercial air network, and with the additions would have 49,000 miles. For some lines several concerns have applied. Inset map shows proposed new route in Alaska.
